Several races develop in local communities

QUAD CITIES — The final day of filing Monday completed the puzzle facing voters in the April 4 municipal elections, and several races have developed.

Filing for Granite City mayor Monday was Archie Lupardus, 2441 Edwards St. He will face two previously announced candidates, incumbent Mayor Von Dee Cruse and city Street Superintendent Mac Warfield.

Filing for treasurer was Erv DeRousse, 3716 Johnson Road, the city's inspector. He will challenge incumbent Gail Valle and Paul Ray Bowler.

No new candidates filed for city clerk, township supervisor and township assessor, meaning those incumbents, respectively Robert Stevens, Nelson Hagnauer and Darlene Laub, will go unchallenged.

Newcomers filing in Granite City ward races are:

First Ward: Joseph Swigert, 1539A E. 20th St. He will face incumbent Casmer Skubish and challenger Daniel G. Churovich.

Second Ward: No new filings. Virgil Kambarian, Jim Ortiz and Samuel Rongey will vie for the seat given up by incumbent Pat Schuman.

Third Ward: Emmett "Joe" Williams, 2573 Grand Ave., is the only new filing. He will face Alan Milton and Andrew Timko for the seat being vacated by incumbent Brett Hanke.

Fourth Ward: No new filings. Incumbent Sharon Perjak will face Sandra Shaw and Dan Brown.

Fifth Ward: Virginia O'Bear, 2010 13th St., is the newest to file. She will face incumbent Ralph Astorian and challenger William "Bill" Moreland.

Sixth Ward: No new filings. Incumbent Judy Whitaker will face Billy Seago.

Seventh Ward: Sandra Crites, 8 Mercer Drive, is the newest filing and will challenge incumbent Jeff Worthen.

A lottery will be held at 10 a.m. Friday to determine the ballot order of the above candidates.

Park Board: No new filings. Running for two available six-year seats are incumbent Robert Austin, incumbent Barry Loman and Ron Parente.

Pontoon Beach

Only one new filing came in Monday in Pontoon Beach. Seeking a two-year trustee post as an independent is Dana R. Wallace, 18 Tulip Ave. Nine candidates filed on the previous Monday — seven for three available four-year seats and two others for one two-year seat.

Venice Township

Five new filings have taken place in Venice Township, but the surprise was Christ Pashoff, 1230 Madison Ave., Madison, the long-time supervisor, who has decided this election to run for trustee, after a recent controversy in which the Madison city political organization failed to endorse him.

Other new trustee candidates are Vasil Graville, 819 Madison Ave., and Ira "Sonny" Campbell, 925 Madison Ave. Four other trustee candidates filed previously under the People's Party slate.

Others:

Supervisor: Jim Riskowsky, 714 Iowa St. He will face previous filers, Andy Economy and Richard "Popeye" Paterson.

Assessor: No filings against incumbent Babette Mosby.

Tax collector: Edward B. Warchol, 908 Washington Ave., Madison, will face incumbent Casey Krakowiecki.

Town clerk: No challengers to incumbent William McGarrahan.

Road and bridge commissioner: No filings against incumbent Eddie Salmond Sr.

City of Venice

Two new filings have taken place — Samuel G. Bell, 1012 Third St., for 1st Ward, and Henry Fletcher, 220 Weaver St., for 4th Ward alderman. Bell will face Phillip A. White and Fletcher will face incumbent Charles Haynes.

The only other challenged race is in the 2nd Ward: John Henry Williams versus Jacob Young Jr.

Mayor, treasurer, clerk and 3rd Ward all will go unchallenged with the incumbents holding forth.

Venice Park

Two new filings have taken place, Donald Turner Jr., 524 Washington Ave., and Green Jacks, 902 Third St. They will face a previous filer, Robbie Silas.

Madison

Three more persons filed in the City of Madison.

Clerk: Gary R. Novich, 925 Washington Ave. Apartment A, will face incumbent William Weidner (Progress Party, incumbent), 1611 Third St.

Mayor: No new filings. Incumbent John Bellcoff will face Alderman Ron Grzywacz.

Treasurer: No challenger to incumbent Fred Bathon.

Alderman: The new filings were in the 2nd Ward. Richard

GC seniors to get office

GRANITE CITY — Problems that plagued senior citizens and their use of the Township Hall for years appear resolved with the recent announcement that the seniors will have their own office in that building.

Avery Schermer, chairman of the mayoral-appointed Senior Citizens Advisory Committee, said a new agreement ends years of discord over the use of the building at 2060 Delmar Ave.

The pact was reached after a series of meetings conducted by a three-person negotiating team made up of committee members LaVerna Corbitt, Joe Lucido and chairman Rosemarie Brown. They worked with representatives of the Granite City Senior Council and Granite City Township Supervisor Nelson Hagnauer and his wife, Bernie.

Schermer said, "Rosemarie and her committee first met with Nelson and Bernie Hagnauer. They left that meeting with the Hagnauers' complete cooperation and willingness to work together to resolve the differences.

"The second meeting was with the Granite City Senior Council. The seniors were encouraged to present a written list of what they perceived as the problems and to also appoint a negotiating team. The seniors appointed Gertrude Boskay, Edgar Paddock and Michael Lombardi. These three then met with our committee and Rosemarie next met with the Hagnauers and presented the list to them," Schermer said.

"At a third meeting attended by the Hagnauers, the Senior Council Negotiating Committee and myself, and chaired by Mrs. Brown, we went over the list and an agreement on all points was reached."

Those attending the third meeting will meet on a regular basis to solve problems as they develop, Schermer said. "We also established a structured line of communications between the seniors, the township staff and the Mayor's Advisory Committee," he said.

Brown said the attitude displayed by those involved indicates a turnabout in the future of senior citizen services in Granite City.

"I can't give enough credit to Mr. and Mrs. Hagnauer, Mrs. Boskay, Mr. Paddock and Mr. Lombardi for the positive and enthusiastic response they have shown our committee. Without a complete spirit of cooperation on all sides no agreement would have been possible. I look forward to working with them in the future."

She said the meetings have been going on for the past several months, "but we waited until we had positive news to announce before releasing any news of the meetings. Believe me, this is very positive news for every senior citizen in Granite City."

On Friday, Jan. 6, at a party sponsored by the Mayor's Senior Advisory Committee, Gertrude Boskay, vice president of the Granite City Senior Council, announced that the council now has access to a room in the township building to use as a temporary office.

The evening was put together

Inside today's edition of the Journal you'll find a new page, "The Senior Citizen."

Offered as often as space allows, the page will include features on local individuals, schedules of activities and news that can be used by those 55 and older. Those younger will find plenty to read on the page, too.

In the future, news that applies to "The Senior Citizen" can be directed to the newsroom, specifically for this page. We will do our best to accommodate readers.

Feature ideas are also welcome and may be called into the editor at 876-2000.

911 plan nears vote

By Michael Huck

EDWARDSVILLE — Madison County came one step closer to a 911 emergency system when the county board's legislative committee heard public comment in a meeting Wednesday night.

Alan Dunstan, D-Troy, chairman of the legislative committee, said he expects the committee to recommend putting the issue on the April 4 ballot.

The full county board will hold a special meeting at 9:30 a.m. next Wednesday to make the final decision.

About 60 people attended Wednesday night's meeting. Most were members of area police and fire departments.

The proposed system would allow county residents to dial the three numbers, 911, to get fire, police or ambulance service.

Voters April 4 would be asked to agree to a 65-cent surcharge on their monthly phone bills to pay for a countywide 911 system. The surcharge would be added within 90 days and would be collected until the system was operating and all startup costs were met — a time period of about two years.

At that time, the surcharge would be reduced to approximately 35 cents, according to County Administrator Jim Mohday.

Dunstan said startup costs are estimated at $1,059,000. After two years, an estimated 100,000 phones in the county should generate $1,560,000,not including interest earned.

Charlene Davis, Illinois Bell's 911 representative for Southern Illinois, said the surcharge would not involve extension phones.

County Board member Fred Dalton, D-Collinsville, urged those at the meeting: "Go out and sell this program. It's a great thing for 65 cents. It expedites emergency calls; it's something I don't think we can do without."

Currently, the only communities in Madison County with 911 systems are Highland and Edwardsville. St. Clair County voters in November voted for a countywide 911 system there.

Man found dead in camper

MITCHELL — A Quincy man was found dead in the back of his pickup-camper Monday at Ray's Truck Stop, I-270 and Illinois 203. Authorities said he had been dead about 10 days.

The man, James D. "Cletis" Rice, 42, was a traveling salesman who had been living out of his '88 Toyota camper for the last year, according to his parents, said Capt. Jack Fields of the Madison County Sheriff's Department.

A Madison man who described himself as a friend of Mr. Rice told authorities he saw Mr. Rice's red truck on his way to work. Officers found Mr. Rice lying in bedding in the back.

The car's ignition was on, the gasoline tank was empty, and a "hot spot" on the ground under the tailpipe indicated the engine had run for a long time while parked at that location.

Authorities suspect carbon monoxide poisoning. Mr. Rice was pronounced dead at 1 p.m. by Madison County Deputy Coroner Ed Werner. Results of an autopsy are pending.

City will use E. Peoria's example

EAST PEORIA — Jay Thompson pulled up to the red light of the busy four-way intersection. "You know," he told a reporter, "in the '60s when Caterpillar was booming, traffic was really terrible right here. It's almost getting back to that way. But you don't hear much grumbling about it."

Complaints about the hustle-bustle of downtown East Peoria would be the last thing you'd expect judging from the new life it has given the community. And Granite City leaders feel they can learn a lot from East Peoria's experience.

The latter community came close to hitting bottom a few years back, but diligent pursuit of a goal by city, business and civic leaders has given East Peoria both a new look and a new outlook, said Thompson, the town's director of public affairs.

In the last 14 years, East Peoria has transformed a bleak downtown intersection into a center of commerce, including a Wal-Mart, Kroger, strip shopping centers, city hall, bank, senior citizens home, restaurants and hospital.

Reviews and previews

29 demonstrators arrested at clinic

Twenty-nine demonstrators were arrested early Saturday morning at a protest involving about 150 people at the Hope Clinic for Women, 1602 21st St., where abortions are performed. Granite City police said three were charged with disorderly conduct and 26 face criminal trespassing charges. The demonstration marked the 16th anniversary of the U.S. Supreme Court ruling legalizing abortion.

Costello to open Granite City office

Granite City has been selected as the site for the principal 21st District office of U.S. Rep. Jerry F. Costello. The office will be at 1316 Niedringhaus Ave., occupying the other half of the building that houses the 1314 Niedringhaus eight-county regional office of Illinois Attorney General Neil F. Hartigan.

Council increases several salaries

The Granite City Council passed ordinances last week to raise the mayor's salary from $33,600 to $45,000 a year, effective May 1, and then $47,000 on May 1, 1991. The salaries of the clerk and treasurer will rise from $30,000 to $35,000 on May 1, and to $37,000 on 1991. Aldermanic salaries will double from $2,700 to $5,400 for those elected this year.

A ban by the WPA (Works Progress Administration) on building fires for warmth led to a protest meeting of about 250 employees of the levee project. The employees vowed to ignore the rule, calling it "inhuman."

Nameoki Township

The only new filing was Helen Hawkins, 2600 Angela Drive, seeking a trustee post as an independent. Four others are seeking trustee positions through the Continued Improvement Party.

Incumbents for supervisor, highway commissioner, assessor and collector are not challenged.

Chouteau Twp.

No new filings have taken place in Chouteau Township, meaning all incumbents will be reseated. The only non-incumbent seeking election is James Spann of Hartford, running for the position of trustee Jeannine Stefanoff, who is retiring.

PARTY RECEIVES DEMO AWARD: In recognition of the Democratic turnout in downstate Illinois, the Illinois Democratic Party presented 39 county chairmen with special awards at the first Democratic County Chairman Appreciation dinner, held at Bauer's Opera House in Springfield. William Harrison of Granite City, Madison County Democratic chairman, is pictured accepting the County Party Victory Award plaque on behalf of his county organization. Illinois Democratic Chairman Vince Demuzio (far left), said 1988 downstate voting patterns point toward a strong shift to the party; 30 downstate counties carried for the top of the Democratic ticket, including seven for the presidential candidate for the first time since 1964. "This election's gains put the party in an ideal position to reclaim the governor's mansion and the secretary of state's office in 1990 as well as maintain control of other offices, both houses of the Legislature and our U.S. Senate seats," Demuzio said. Left to right are Demuzio, Attorney General Neil Hartigan, State Treasurer Jerome Cosentino, Harrison and U.S. Sen. Paul Simon.

Local libraries get state grants

Secretary of State and State Librarian Jim Edgar has announced that 13 public libraries in Madison County will receive a total of $177,488 in grants based on the population of the area they serve.

Granite City will get $36,815, Madison $5,301 and Venice $3,480.

According to Edgar, 546 libraries statewide will receive more than $9.5 million in per capita grants from his office.

Moreover, $497,488 in additional grants were awarded to 100 public libraries unable to meet minimum public library funding at the local community level. In this phase, the Madison Public Library will receive $4,638.

"Per capita grants to public libraries in Illinois are an increasingly important source of revenue to complement a local community's support for its public library," Edgar said.

"These grants supplement the local public library's budget and allow libraries to provide more books and offer expanded programs.

"The use of state funds for this grant program recognizes the importance of libraries in the information they provide to citizens of Illinois for education and business."

Edgar said he is "committed to continued support for local libraries, which serve not only as information sources but often as community meeting places for literacy, cultural and educational activities.

"As state librarian, I am pleased that we have again increased the level of funding to help hundreds of local public libraries continue providing basic services to millions of patrons in Illinois."

State law says libraries must work to meet the Illinois Library Association's standards for public libraries and levy local taxes for library support at a rate of at least 13 cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

County approves court security fees

EDWARDSVILLE — The Madison County Board on Wednesday approved a schedule of "court security" fees expected to yield as much as $100,000 per year.

That money will be used to purchase security equipment such as metal detectors for the County Courthouse, finance committee spokesman Alan Dunstan, D-Troy, said.

Proceeds from the new fees may also be used to subsidize the payroll for sheriff's deputies assigned to courthouse security details, Dunstan said.

Under the new schedule, persons filing civil suits or pleading guilty to or being convicted of a misdemeanor or a felony will be assessed $5 in additional court costs and fees.

The $5 will be charged at the time of filing in civil matters and at the time of sentencing in criminal cases.

Also under the schedule, a fee of $1 will be assessed for each local ordinance, county ordinance, traffic and conservation case that is entered in the circuit clerk's office.

Current court fees in civil cases vary from $29 to $44; misdemeanor convictions carry a court fee of $27 and felonies, $95.

Chess tournament to begin

The Metro East Chess Association will conduct an open chess tournament on Jan. 26, Feb. 2 and Feb. 9.

One round will be played per night starting at 6:15. Cash prizes will be awarded for first and second place, plus under-1600 prizes.

Entry fee is $10 by mail or $12 at the door.

The club meets every Thursday from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. to play games for fun, analyze games by masters, and hold approximately six tournaments per year.

Visitors and those interested in the club are always welcome, a spokesman said.

The playing site is in the basement of the main public library, 2001 Delmar Ave., next to the children's section.

The current club leader is Mark Simpson, who is classified as a Class A player, right below the rank of candidate master. For more information, Jacob Evans can be contacted at 876-4328.

Costello shares concern over cable TV charges

By John D. Milazzo
Staff affiliate

EDWARDSVILLE — U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello has assured the Madison County Board and Chairman Nelson Hagnauer that he shares local officials' concern over higher cable television rates and is taking steps to learn what can be done to moderate those costs.

A letter from Costello to Hagnauer was read for board members at Wednesday's county board meeting.

The Costello letter came in response to a board resolution approved in December calling on the area's congressional delegation to press for reinstatement of federal regulation of the cable television industry.

That resolution was offered by Harold Byers, D-Highland, after announcement that Ceneom Cable Television would raise its monthly basic rate by $2.50, to $15.95 from $13.45.

That increase, the third since the company obtained the franchise in December 1986, took effect Jan. 1.

In his letter, Costello said that in discussions with Federal Communications Commission officials, he learned that under present law the FCC has no jurisdiction regarding cable rates as long as competition exists.

"Effective competition is defined as any three signals broadcast in the area that do not duplicate programming," said Costello.

Sen. Paul Simon, D-Illinois, is a member of a U.S. Senate subcommittee that will hold hearings on this subject.

Costello said that if new legislation pertaining to cable rates reaches the House, he will support it.

4 faiths observe prayer for unity

The bishops of the four Christian denominations headquartered in Springfield have urged observance of the Week of Prayer for Christian Unity, Jan. 18-25.

They are Bishops Daniel L. Ryan of the Catholic Diocese of Springfield in Illinois, Donald Hultstrand of the Episcopal Diocese of Springfield, John Kaitschuk of the Central Southern Illinois Synod of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of America and Woodie W. White of the Central Illinois Conference and Southern Illinois Conference of the United Methodist Church.

"We, though many, are one body in Christ and individually members one of another. We have gifts that differ according to the favor bestowed on each of us; let us use them..."

Citing this quotation, a spokesman said, "During this Week of Prayer for Christian Unity, Paul's message to the Romans reverberates within our own hearts as we greet the Christians whom we serve in Illinois.

"Building Community — One Body in Christ, is a theme aptly chosen for this week of prayer. The gift of unity and diversity that belongs to all Christians strengthens the body of Christ and gives witness in the world that the Gospel message of Jesus still lives among His people.

"We encourage all our brothers and sisters in Christ to pray together for the gifts of the Holy Spirit that will enable us to be that constant witness to the presence of Jesus in our world.

"As we commit ourselves as individuals and as churches to seek that unity which is Christ's gift to the church, let us also be thankful for the diversity of gifts we've received."

Purse grabbers nabbed

GRANITE CITY — Two youths were caught by officers near Wilson Park moments after a purse grabbing incident at 10 a.m. Wednesday in the 2500 block alley between State Street and Edison Avenue.

A 15-year-old Pontoon Beach boy and a 16-year-old Madison boy were charged with theft and later were transferred to the Madison County Juvenile Detention Home in Edwardsville.

Mary Konarcik, 78, of Granite City was walking home from a grocery store when two youths ran up behind her and pulled the purse from her shoulder, she told an officer.

The suspects continued running north along the alley with her purse, which contained cash and house keys, Konarcik said.

A neighbor called police and pointed out the route taken by the fleeing youths.

Sgt. Dennis Joyce and Patrolman Craig Nonn responded and captured the suspects in the Wilson Park area. The purse also was recovered, police said.

Burglar gets stereo, TV

A door was forced open and a lock was broken at the home of Venus Nash in the 2200 block of Iowa Street, she reported Jan. 17. Missing from the apartment were a portable color television, a Nintendo video game set, a stereo, speakers and a jewelry box containing assorted jewelry.

Entry doors shattered

Two large safety glass doors at the Farm Fresh Store in the 2900 block of Nameoki Road were shattered when a vandal or would-be burglar threw a five-inch section of galvenized pipe through the entry doors, it was reported at 1:46 a.m. Jan. 15. No entry was gained. The pipe was found inside the store.

Felony warrant served

Ronald Melvin Thomas, 35, of the 3200 block of Carlson Avenue was arrested there on a St. Louis County felony warrant that alleged he was a fugitive from justice. He appeared Jan. 17 in the Granite City court, where extradition papers were signed and a mittimus was issued.

Venice man released

Keith Andrew King, 29, of the 1000 block of Calhoun Street, Venice, was arrested Jan. 17 at the Edwardsville Police Station on a Granite City warrant alleging failure to appear in court on a charge of unlawful use of credit cards. At an appearance in the Granite City court, King was credited for time served and was released.

Granite City

All-terrain vehicle gone

A red Honda all-terrain vehicle worth $400 was stolen from the rear yard at the home of Bryan Garrison in the 2800 block of Myrtle Avenue, he reported Jan. 14.

Auto looted of jacket

A man's gray jacket and a toy plastic Uzi gun were taken from the parked auto of Albert G. Pritchett of the 2400 block of Edison Avenue, he reported Jan. 15.

Battery by man alleged

Robert Glenn Meinhardt, 24, of the 1800 block of Maple Street was booked for battery after a Jan. 15 incident at his home during which he allegedly argued with Tara R. Meinhardt and threw furniture and other items. Robert Meinhardt also allegedly made threats, pulled her hair and pushed her. He was released on bail.

Radar detector stolen

Scott W. Ward of the 2400 block of Edwards Street reported Jan. 14 that a window of his vehicle was shattered by a brick which was found on the front seat. A radar detector valued at $50 was stolen.

Struck in face by man

Danny F. Compton, 37, of the 2600 block of Lincoln Avenue was interviewed Jan. 15 in the emergency room at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where he was being treated for swelling to the face and a cut to the right eye. He reported being struck by a man who used his fist after words were exchanged.

Charged in felony warrant

GRANITE CITY — James Monroe Clutts, 31, of the 4200 block of Illinois 111, Pontoon Beach, has been charged with four counts of aggravated criminal sexual abuse in a felony warrant issued through the Madison County State's Attorney's Office.

Clutts turned himself in at Granite City police headquarters at 10:10 a.m. Monday, Jan. 9, in response to the warrant.

He posted $2,000 cash bail and was released, pending a hearing.

The counts contained in the warrant involved incidents allegedly taking place with two young children and occurred in Granite City, police said.

The incidents were reported to police Dec. 10, 1988. Clutts formerly resided in Granite City, police said.

Man accused of taking radar unit

Tim D. Vandaveer of the 1800 block of Edwardsville Road reported Jan. 12 that a radar detector valued at $100 was taken from his truck.

Vandaveer reported seeing a man who apparently was scared away from the vehicle and ran south through yards. The suspect was about 6 feet tall and of medium build, wearing a gray baseball cap, gray jacket and blue jeans.

A search of the area was made by officers. The thief also tried to remove a radio from the dashboard of the truck, causing about $300 damage.

Madison

$190 taken from driver

Richard A. Busbee of Norman, Okla., said he allowed a woman to use the citizen band radio in his truck while he was parked at Gateway Midstate Truck Plaza, 699 Illinois 203, and then discovered his wallet was missing.

The wallet was found on the ground near the truck, but $190 was gone, he said. She was 5 feet 9 inches tall and weighed about 140 pounds. She was wearing a black jacket, denim shirt and jeans.

Trespassing charged

Maria Smith, 26, of St. Louis was charged with criminal trespass to land when arrested at 6:45 a.m. Jan. 10 at Gateway Midstate Truck Plaza, 699 Illinois 203. She was released pending a Feb. 2 appearance at the St. Clair County Courthouse in Belleville.

Fast burglar loots home

Sandra Hahne of the 1600 block of Second Street was away from her home about an hour, returned and found the door open and her house burglarized at 11:45 p.m. Jan. 17. Missing were a telephone answering machine worth $250, a video cassette recorder valued at $247 and an Oriental porcelain doll.

Softball jacket stolen

A red satin softball jacket worth $40 and several cassette tapes were taken from the pickup truck of Arthur S. Ryan of the 900 block of Washington Avenue, he reported Jan. 17.

Taken to County Jail

Steven Lamont Henderson, 20, of the Lee Wright Homes, Venice, was transferred Jan. 18 to the Madison County Jail in Edwardsville.

Henderson was charged with criminal trespass to property and misdemeanor theft Jan. 14 after he allegedly was seen climbing over a fence at Madison Lawn Equipment Co. in the 1400 block of Second Street and walking through the property, picking up scrap metal items.

Cannabis possession alleged in auto stop

David H. Meyer, 20, of the 2400 block of Angela Drive was arrested and charged with driving while his license was suspended at 12:20 a.m. Jan. 16 after his car was stopped at Pontoon and Cargill roads.

During a routine search, a packet containing two cannabis cigarettes allegedly was found in Meyer's coat pocket. He was charged with unlawful possession of cannabis and was released after posting $204 bail, pending a Feb. 17 appearance in the Granite City court.

Pontoon

In other Pontoon Beach police news, JoAnn Mikolaszuk of Lake Drive reported Jan. 13 that several items were missing from her residence. Among the items stolen were a gold bracelet valued at $250, a gold necklace, a gold ring and another bracelet. Taken from the garage was a tool box containing assorted tools.

County reports local burglary

In a burglary at the residence of Gerald McKenna in the 100 block of Arlington Drive, reported Jan. 11, the intruder ransacked the house and stole a color television and jewelry valued at $1,250.

A spokesman for the Madison County Sheriff's Department said entry was gained by kicking in and damaging the front door.

Eta Chapter contributes to charities

The annual Christmas party of Eta Chapter, Phi Tau Omega Sorority, was held Dec. 27 at the Den Restuarant.

Following dinner, a formal pledge ceremony was conducted for Janis Wolf, prospective member of the sorority, by President Georgiana Van Buskirk, assisted by Shirley Morgan, sergeant-at-arms.

Fifteen members and four guests attended the holiday affair. Hostesses were: Debbie Geggus, Jan Greathouse, Jane Haug and Debbie Wilson.

Christmas decorations and appointments were in keeping with the season.

Guests included Blanche Grace, Lois Hodge, Diana Schwendemann and Elsie Wilson.

A gift exchange was held, and all members and guests received a basket of assorted cheeses and crackers used as table favors.

Members present, in addition to those named above, included: Lorraine Butler, Millie Greathouse, Mary Hassler, Eunice Hatscher, Betty Krug, Dolores Sheridan, Martha Ruth Thomas, Mary Evalyne Yencho, Mary Lou Richeson and Ann Tatum.

Members voted to include in the chapter's philanthropic donations: Catholic Charities, Protestant Welfare, Salvation Army and Phi Tau Omega National Philanthropic Fund, and to send a gift to the newly installed chapter of the sorority, Alpha Beta Zeta, in West Des Moines.

Dwayne S. Rogers

Rogers installed in Shrine post

Dwayne S. Rogers of Madison was installed as worshipful master of East Lodge 504, AF&AM, Fairview Heights, on Dec. 3.

He will serve throughout the year.

He is also a member of the Scottish Rite, York Rite Bodies and Ainad Temple AAONMS.

Cloverview group elects officers

An election of officers for Cloverview Garden Club was held in the home of Mrs. Kenneth Brokaw of the 2200 block of Clinton St. She entertained the club with a dessert luncheon.

New officers elected were: president, Mrs. Donald Tabor; vice president, Mrs. Orion Johnson; secretary, Mrs. Albert Taylor; and treasurer, Mrs. Von Dee Cruse. The installation will be in March.

The business meeting was opened by Mrs. Ray Williamson, who led the club in the collect.

Each member responded to roll call by naming a vegetable that flowers.

It was noted that annual contributions were made to the Garden Clubs of Illinois Inc. to help support state objectives. These include world gardening, Lincoln Memorial Gardens, Blue Star highway markers, conservation and environmental scholarships, and roadside beautification.

Clubs

The program study for the year is "Do Your Own Thing," with each member giving a program of her own choice.

Mrs. B.C. O'Neill selected "Pressed and Preserved Flowers," and she displayed bookmarks created from the pressed flowers she had gathered during the summer months. For best results, she said gardeners should gather flowers when they are fresh. She said that the plants should be dry, so it is best to gather them about noontime.

She said each flower should be placed between two layers of absorbent paper or waxed paper for thin or delicate types. The flowers should be weighed down with heavy books and left in a warm, dry place for at least four weeks. The flowers then should be gently arranged on heavy paper to form a spray, bouquet or arrangement.

She said a toothpick should then be dabbed with white glue to be put on the back of each plant to be pressed in place. When the flowers are dry, they should be placed face down on a sheet of clear plastic paper and the back should be covered with the same material. Pinking shears should be used to cut the border.

The same procedure may be used for picture frames, she said, using glass instead of plastic paper. She said the art of flower pressing lets gardeners preserve the beauty of their flowers indefinitely. She said that wheat, oat and barley grasses also may be used in the arrangements.

Present also at the meeting were: Mrs. Clarence Etheridge, Mrs. George Knapp and Mrs. Louise Sedlack.

Mrs. Randall Irwin will host the February meeting.

Humane Society elects directors

An election of Madison County Humane Society officers and directors was held Jan. 5.

The new officers are: Marsha Scheibal of Edwardsville, president; Ledy VanKavage of Collinsville, vice president; Cindy Kuschel of Glen Carbon, treasurer; and Lynn McInyre of Edwardsville, secretary.

The remaining board members are: Kathy Carillo of Troy; Joe Carrillo of Troy; Dorothy English of Alton; Dixie Morlen of Highland; Jacque Peipert of Brighton; Wendy Porter of Maryville; Debbie Walker of Edwardsville; Mary Wethington of Bethalto; and Terry Wethington of Bethalto.

Alpha Gamma holds reception

Laureate Alpha Gamma, Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi, members, along with their guests, brought in the new year with the annual President's Reception on Jan. 1 at the home of Imogene Forrest of Johnson Road.

The potluck dinner and fellowship was enjoyed by Ed and Jane Stevens of Avon, Ill., Juanita and Jack Calve, Evelyn and Jack Tolliver, Bea Brackett, Delores Dortch, Ruth Stoyanoff, Arlene and Ralph Haldeman, and the host and hostess, Imogene and Bill Forrest, all of Granite City.

Conservation dinner slated

The 42nd annual meeting of the Madison County Soil and Water Conservation District (SWCD) will be held on Thursday, Feb. 9, at Walton's Banquet Hall in the Cottonwood Mall on Illinois 159, Edwardsville. Registration will begin at 6:30 p.m. with a buffet dinner at 7.

The meeting which will include the election of two directors and the Conservation Farmer of the Year award.

Tickets are $6 and can be purchased by contacting the SWCD office at P.O. Box 482, Edwardsville, 62025, (phone 656-5166) or from any of the district directors.

Guest speaker will be John Lehman of Wolcott, Ind. He is a 28-year-old crop and livestock farmer and broadcaster.

One career over, volunteer pushes on

Clifford Duniphan

Clifford Duniphan, a first-aid instructor with the American Red Cross for 37 years, retired from that position on Jan. 3.

In early 1952, Duniphan joined the Madison Civil Defense, under the leadership of the late Harry Johnson. As a member of Civil Defense he was required to take a first-aid course. He became interested in the Red Cross First Aid program and later that year enrolled in a course taught by the late Eull Mann, who was a member of the Madison Civil Defense. Later that year, he became a certified instructor and began his long tenure as a Red Cross volunteer. In 1953, he continued his Red Cross studies and became a certified advance first aid instructor. At the time, he was working full time at the American Steel Foundries and operating three rooming houses.

When the multimedia (an abbreviated version of the standard course) course was initiated to appease OSHA, he again studied to become a multimedia instructor. He then taught the course to American Steel Foundries supervisors.

"I have taught at least one class, and sometimes several since 1952 throughout Madison, Venice, Granite City and Edwardsville," he said.

"There have been many changes over the years, in teaching materials and the first-aid techniques, mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, cardio-pulmonary resuscitation (CPR) and how to remove a foreign object from the airway are all techniques added since I began. The Red Cross office has moved six times and has had five directors during my tenure," he said.

Although Duniphan retired from the American Steel Foundries in January 1983, he continued to teach for the Red Cross. Many times he would put together the materials needed to teach the class and travel to wherever the class happened to be assembled. Sometimes braving unpleasant weather, because most companies like to schedule their first-aid training for January, February and March.

"Not only have I enjoyed my association with the Red Cross, but my training enabled me to save the life of my hunting companion, Eull Mann, when in 1959 he accidently shot himself while transferring himself and his shotgun from the boat to a duck blind. The accident happened on a frigid morning, about a mile down the Mississippi River from the docking point. The shot severed the main artery in the upper arm," Duniphan said. "That trip back up the river and the one to St. Joseph's Hospital in Alton seemed to take forever. But after a long period of time and several operations by a plastic surgeon, Mann regained the use of his hand and arm and lived a normal life until his death in 1986," Duniphan said.

Duniphan is now a member of the Retired Senior Volunteer Program (R.S.V.P.) at Granite City Campus of Belleville Area College. He volunteers his time once or twice a week as a member of the Silver Strings music group that performs for senior organizations and nursing homes under R.S.V.P. auspices.

Specialized Saturday classes at BAC

Belleville Area College wants to make Saturdays a real experience.

The "Saturday Experience" programs are special-interest workshops at the three BAC campuses: Belleville, Granite City and Red Bud.

The workshops, generally offered during the morning or early afternoon hours, focus on personal and professional development, arts and crafts, business and computers, homemaking and areas that are "just for fun." Most of the workshops take only one or two Saturdays to complete.

"Area residents have told us they want these personal enrichment sessions," said Dr. Valerie L. Thaxton, interim vice president for community services. "Each semester we get approximately 900 registration forms for Saturday Experience programs."

At the Granite City Campus, courses from assertiveness training to will preparation are available.

Most classes have only a minimal fee to cover the costs of materials and instruction.

To receive a schedule of classes or to register by phone, area residents may call 931-0600 or 1-800-BAC-5131, extension 442. VISA and Mastercard are accepted. Registration is already under way.

Marshall picks acts for show

During a special talent show assembly at Marshall School, seven acts were chosen to represent the school in the Area Council PTA Talent Show.

The event will be held at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Feb. 10, at the Granite City Township Hall.

Acts from Marshall School will include:

Charles Reagan, a kindergartener, singing "Frosty the Snowman"; second graders Leah Gamblin singing "He's Still Working on Me"; Stephen Asbeck singing with guitar accompaniment; Timothy Graham playing "Please Mr. Banjo" and "Little Red Caboose" on guitar; and fifth-grader Mandy Morlen and third-grader Salina Morlen, singing "If You Believe" with Lisa Crippen.

Sixth graders Richard Cooper, Christopher Valencia, Nathan Beasley, Jason Hitchcock and Jeff Crain will lip sync "Pour Some Sugar on Me" and Matthew Vollmar will sing "God Bless the USA."

Chairman of the assembly was Nancy Sanders-Miles. Her assistants were Mary Lou Schwab, Karen Revelle, Barbara Bronnbauer, Virginia Vollmar, Mary Reagan and Lisa Morlen.

Educators join Phi Delta Kappa

This fall and winter, 23 educators from Metro East became members of Phi Delta Kappa, the international honorary fraternity for educators.

To become a member of Phi Delta Kappa, an individual must be considered a distinguished educator.

Granite Citians newly joining Gateway East Chapter 1097 are Patricia Gonwa, assistant principal, Coolidge Junior High School, and Dr. Goni Michaeloff, elementary principal, Marshall School.

24 children enter arts contest

At Marshall School, 24 children entered the literature category of the PTA Council contest titled "Reflections."

The theme for the event was "Proud Experiences." Entrants were:

First grade — Jamie Schubert, Bradley Smith and Rachel Whitehead.

Second grade — Sandra Coad and Deena Raymer.

Third grade — Susanne Borth, Tiffany Click, Marie Elliot, Jennifer Garner, Jessica Garrison, Joseph Klug, Christopher Lemp, Salina Morlen, Lisa Rodgers and Joseph Sitton.

Fourth grade — Carrie Boner, Tim Crider, Shaun Miller and Aaron Walls.

Fifth grade — Corey Cole, Mandy Morlen and Jason Windbeck.

Sixth grade — Jackie Brewer and Kelley Williamson.

Students named to 'Who's Who'

The 1988-89 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" will include 30 students from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Among those are two Granite City residents, Kimberly A. Blankenship and Nancy Dimitroff.

Kimberly is a student representative of the SIUE Board of Trustees, a Truman Scholar candidate, and a member of the Dean's College, National Honor Society, Student Program Board, Phi Eta Sigma, Women for Women and SIUE women's soccer.

Nancy is a Presidential Scholar and a member of Psi Chi, Student Program Board, Dean's College, Dean's College Honor Club and the Student Activities Honor Society.

Outstanding students have been honored in the annual "Who's Who" since its first publication in 1934.

Marshall names winning spellers

Marshall School recently held its annual spelling bee.

Nancy Weber and Ellyn Mae Ullman, first grade teachers, served as judge and enunciator.

The contest had three divisions: grades two and three; grades four and five; and grade six.

Barbara Sitton, a third-grader in Ruth Buer's class, was the winner of the first division. The runner-up was Jennifer Jones, a second-grader in Marjorie Schmidt's class.

Patricia Brown was the winner in the second division. Second was Marcia Plank. Both girls are fourth-graders in Lois Mullen's class.

Jason Alvarado was the winner in the third division. The runner-up was Matthew Vollmar. Both boys are sixth-graders in Robert Anderson's class.

The winners will advance to the District 9 Elementary Spelling Bee which will be held Feb. 25 at Coolidge Junior High School.

Makes dean's list

Wright State University, Dayton, Ohio, has announced the names of 1,312 students named to the dean's list for the 1988 fall quarter.

All students must take 12 or more credit hours to achieve dean's list honors.

Locally, David P. DeRousse, a sophomore, was honored. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin DeRousse of Granite City.

curlicue smoke rising from the stacks of the Caterpillar tractor plant in adjacent Peoria. That plant had always been the center of attention until a few years ago during massive cutbacks. Now, just as Caterpillar's operation seems rejuvenated, so does East Peoria's downtown.

Granite City Mayor Von Dee Cruse and Economic Development Director Alan Ortbals went to East Peoria last Wednesday to hear how that community's leaders organized their effort. It was the latest of several trips taken in the last couple of years, part of the city's pursuit of a Wal-Mart shopping center.

Wal-Mart's real estate division has recommended a Granite City store, but the project still must be given approval by the executive committee of the Bentonville, Ark.-based corporation. Some word is expected within the next two months, Cruse said.

East Peoria rebuilt its downtown in four phases, using the four points of the intersection of Erie and Main streets as the foundation. Eventually 25 acres were redeveloped.

Granite City's Wal-Mart project, which would be bounded by Edison and Madison avenues and 18th and 20th streets, would take 22.3 acres, estimates show.

Between the two communities, there are many comparable points. East Peoria took seven months to acquire all the property needed for its projects. Ortbals estimates Granite City will need about 14.

East Peoria invested $10 million in its redevelopment; Granite City expects it will need about the same.

East Peoria began its project in 1975. Granite City only in the last couple of years.

"From the pictures they showed us, you'd think you were looking at downtown Granite City," said Cruse, referring to the way East Peoria once looked.

Indeed, the before and after photos offer stark contrast. It was the "before" appearance that got the ball rolling, Jay Thompson explained. "(Former) Mayor Jim Ranney said we'd becc ne the dumping ground, sort of the laughing stock. He said, 'It's time we restore some community pride,' "

The mayor got "total support of the council," Thompson added.

East Peoria's Wal-Mart has helped pay off the investment. "We get about $120,000 to $160,000 a year in city sales tax alone," said Thompson. "I think that store will probably do $20 million (in sales) this year."

Part of the northern community's new business was enticed through a Tax Increment Financing District. Under a TIF concept, sales and property taxes generated from new development are placed into a fund that helps perpetuate further development.

Granite City is relying even more heavily on the TIF's ability to lure investment. The Wal-Mart site here would be totally within the TIF established by the city council in 1986.

Granite City officials are now studying how property acquisition would be financed. There is a chance that Granite City could obtain $8.5 million through a tax-free bond program involving a loan from the Illinois Development Finance Authority.

If a more conventional loan is needed, the city would have to pay off taxable bonds, which would mean an extra $2.5 million in interest over a 20-year period, Ortbals said.

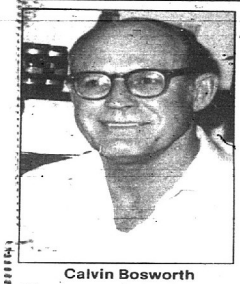

However, even under the most "conservative" estimate, any investment made by the city would be paid off in about six years, if Wal-Mart does locate here, Ortbals said.

The city must purchase more than 60 properties, including 30-plus businesses, several of which have already indicated a willingness to sell, Ortbals said. Some businesses feel their only way out of downtown is the city, Ortbals said.

Granite City leaders have been preparing for word from Wal-Mart for many months, but they know they can't hurry the process. Their case was given a big boost in September when Central Bank agreed to give the city its property at 1909 Edison Ave. and move to a location off Nameoki Road.

Additionally, two car dealerships, John Novotny Chevrolet and Koetting Ford, have agreed to sell and move to leased sites on the southwest corner of Illinois 3 and West Pontoon Road. The city is actively seeking other car dealerships to move to that site in hopes of establishing a long strip of auto firms, Cruse said.

Obituaries

Calvin Bosworth

Bosworth

Calvin C. "Pokey" Bosworth, 60, of Granite City died Sunday, Jan. 22, 1989, at 10 a.m. at his home. He had been ill for three months and was a Hospice of Madison County patient.

Born Sept. 18, 1928, in Madison, he had lived in Granite City for 10 years and prior to that resided in Venice for 30 years. Mr. Bosworth worked as a switchman for the Alton & Southern Railroad in East St. Louis for 29 years and was of the Baptist faith.

Survivors include his wife, Delores (Benner) Bosworth, whom he married March 26, 1949, in Madison; one son, Kent Bosworth of Granite City; three daughters, Mrs. Gary (Cindy) O'Neill, Mrs. Mike (Connie) Mickelson and Cherie Bosworth, all of Granite City; four sisters, Mrs. Annawill Peggy Freeland of Pacifica, Calif., Mrs. Mary Ellen Wyckoff and Mrs. Eldon (Deloyce) Rhoads, both of Madison, and Mrs. Vernon (Sondra) Pumphrey of Granite City; four brothers, Benjamin Bosworth and Jack Bosworth, both of Granite City, Courtland Bosworth of Madison and Frank Bosworth of St. James, Mo.; and four grandchildren.

Visitation began at 2 p.m. Tuesday at Thomas Memorial Mortuary, 2205 Pontoon Road, where funeral services will be held at noon today (Wednesday) with the Revs. Mark Baumschilt and Phil Simcosky officiating. Burial will be at Sunset Hill Cemetery in Edwardsville. Memorials may be made to Hospice of Madison County.

Bessie Keeton

Keeton

Bessie Garris Keeton, 33, of Anna, Ill., formerly of Venice, died at 8:05 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 17, 1989, at Union County Hospital in Anna. She had been a patient there since Dec. 29.

Born Sept. 17, 1905, in Shawls, Mo., she was of the Pentecostal faith.

Preceding her in death were her husbands, Beckford Garris and Charles Keeton.

Survivors include two sons, Glen Garris of Venice and Herb Garris of Anna; three daughters, Virginia Beehler of Franklin, Tenn., Doris Kaplan of Naperville, Ill., and Judy Meehan of Venice; 15 grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Friday at Crain Funeral Home in Anna with the Rev. Clifton Galiher officiating. Burial was at Jonesboro (Ill.) Cemetery.

Virgie Lowe

Lowe

Virgie Pearl (Wall) Lowe, 74, of Madison died at 2:05 a.m. Sunday, Jan. 22, 1989, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. She had been ill for 1½ years and in the hospital for three days.

Born March 30, 1914, in Doniphan, Mo., she had lived in the Quad City area for many years. She had been employed as a mail clerk for John Swift Lithographers in St. Louis and was of the Baptist faith.

Survivors include her husband, Glen Lowe; four sons, Ray Stratton, Lee Stratton and Donald Lowe, all of Granite City, and Ronald Lowe of Atlanta; two daughters, Vada Krajnovich of Granite City and Beverly Ard of Mapleton, Ga.; three brothers, Virgil Wall of Madison, Emil Wall of Waltham, Mass., and Herbert Wall of Warrenton, Mo.; four sisters, Vera Smith of Doniphan, Vada Stogsdill of Alton, Mo., Emma Sykes of Huntsville, Ala., and Viola Tipton of Downey, Calif.; 19 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Visitation was held Monday at Irwin Chapel for Funerals, Granite City. Funeral services will be held at 1 p.m. today (Wednesday) at Edwards Funeral Home in Doniphan, with the Rev. Lee Kirby officiating. Burial will be at Doniphan City Cemetery. Memorials may be made to the donor's choice.

Meyers

Henry H. "Duck" Meyers, 72, of Las Vegas, Nev., formerly of Granite City, died Tuesday, Jan. 10, 1989, at his home, apparently of a heart attack.

Born in Dietrich, Ill., on Sept. 26, 1916, Mr. Meyers resided in Granite City most of his life. He was formerly owner of Meyers Fork Lift Co. in Santa Ana, Calif., for about 15 years. He was a World War II Army veteran.

Survivors include one daughter, Tana Greenleaf of Long Beach, Calif., and one brother, Omer D. Meyers of Santa Barbara, Calif.

Services were held Jan. 16 at the Riverside, Calif., National Cemetery.

Rice

James D. Rice, 42, of Quincy was pronounced dead at 1 p.m. Monday, Jan. 23, 1989, by Madison County Deputy Coroner Ed Werner. Mr. Rice was apparently overcome by carbon monoxide fumes while lying in his pickup camper at Ray's Truck Stop, I-270 and Illinois 203. A story appears elsewhere in this issue.

Mr. Rice was born Jan. 4, 1947. He was a traveling salesman, said to have many friends in this area.

Survivors include his parents, James and Vera Rice, and a brother, Carl Rice, all of Quincy.

Mr. Rice's remains were taken to Quincy on Tuesday. Arrangements were made by Werner Chapel for Funerals.

Zeugin

Elmer C. Zeugin, 88, of Granite City died at 9:15 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 21, 1989, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. He had been ill for two weeks and in the hospital since Jan. 9.

Born July 24, 1900, in Rhineland, Mo., he had lived in Granite City for 57 years. Mr. Zeugin retired in 1965 as a custodian with Granite City School District No. 9 after 22 years of service and was a member of Kingdom Hall Jehovah's Witnesses.

Preceding him in death in 1983 was his wife, Alda Zeugin.

Survivors include two daughters, Maybelle Emerson of Jerseyville and Clydelle Stroud of Granite City, seven grandchildren, 10 great-grandchildren and five great-great-grandchildren.

Memorial services will be held at 7:30 p.m. today (Wednesday) at Kingdom Hall, 2822 Palmer Ave. Mr. Zeugin's remains were cremated. Arrangements were by Irwin Chapel for Funerals, Granite City. Memorials may be made to Kingdom Hall.

Kiro Vasiloff

Vasiloff

Kiro Vasiloff, 86, of Granite City died at 3:45 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 21, 1989, at Barnes Hospital in St. Louis. He had been ill for one week and in the hospital the same length of time.

Born March 16, 1902, in Drnoveny, Macedonia, he had lived in Granite City for 68 years. In 1970 he retired as the owner and operator of Standard Grocery Co., which he had owned for 36 years.

He was a member of Holy Trinity Eastern Orthodox Bulgarian Church in Madison and served on the board of directors of Central Bank of Granite City.

Survivors include his wife, Milka (Karandjeff) Vasiloff; four daughters, Lillian Wisham of Santa Barbara, Calif., Jean Hoener of Chesterfield, Mo., Ceil Weihman of Troy, Mich., and Anna Mae Lucas of Granite City; two sons, John Vasiloff of DeQueen, Ark., and Pete Karcasheff of San Marcos, Calif.; and two sisters, one brother, 12 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at Holy Trinity Eastern Orthodox Bulgarian Church, 1300 Grand Ave., Madison, with the Rev. Peter Stamboldjiev officiating. Burial was at Sunset Hill Cemetery in Edwardsville. Visitation was held at Irwin Chapel for Funerals, Granite City. Memorials may be made to the church of the donor's choice.

United Way to take countywide survey

By Nicole Vaughn
Staff writer

EDWARDSVILLE — If a letter or phone call comes your way asking questions about your community, fear not.

The United Way will be launching a first of its kind random survey, beginning in March, throughout Madison County.

"The survey will be designed to determine people's perceptions of what their community's needs are," Candy Runion, marketing director for the River Bend United Way, said.

Runion said 110 representatives from boards, social service agencies, community leaders and organizations met at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville last week to begin outlining areas of concern to be included in the surveys.

Runion said the random survey of 1,100 residents will have a 95 percent rate of accuracy.

With the survey conducted during March, the results will be made public during the last half of May. The survey will focus largely on health care, unemployment, shelter and education, Runion said.

Runion said it is important to know what community needs are; based on these needs, the United Way can update current programs or create new ones to address them, she said.

"As needs are changing, it becomes more important to find out what the public thinks," Runion said. "With the growth of a community there is growth to the problems that come along with it."

Madison County currently has about 250,000 residents.

"The survey is also a way for us to show our accountability," Runion said. "We have to be accountable to the public because those are the folks who donate the money to us."

Another purpose of the survey is to educate the public.

"Some people polled may say that illiteracy or homelessness is not a problem in their community although it may be a serious problem," Runion said. "If that's the case we can set about making them aware of it."

Runion said that while there are programs addressing such serious problems, they may not be widely known.

"Agency programs are sometimes limited by the number of dollars we have," Runion said.

The four United Way agencies in Madison County (Tri-Cities, River Bend, Collinsville and Edwardsville-Glen Carbon) will conduct the survey. There are 43 United Way agencies in Madison, Jersey, Calhoun, Greene and Macoupin counties.

Maag new associate judge

EDWARDSVILLE — Gordon E. Maag of Wood River has been elected as a new associate judge for Illinois' 3rd Circuit Court.

He succeeds Charles V. Romani Jr., who was elected a circuit judge in November.

Maag, 37, an attorney in private practice, is one of three due to be named associate judges to fill vacancies. Nicholas Byron and Edward Ferguson have advanced from associate to circuit judges by appointment of the Illinois Supreme Court.

The voting on associate judgrs is by circuit judges.

Cost of smoking is high in Illinois

During the month of the 25th anniversary of the surgeon general's landmark report on smoking, it is being emphasized that more than 15,000 people die prematurely in Illinois from smoking-related illnesses each year.

Dr. Bernard J. Turnock, state health director, added that the cost of smoking to residents of Illinois has reached $2.8 billion annually.

He included prevention, diagnosis and treatment costs, and mortality and morbidity through lost income and productivity of individuals who die prematurely or are disabled by smoking-related ailments.

Turnock released statistics on 15,558 Illinoisans who died in 1985 from smoking-attributable lung cancer and other cancers, and heart disease, respiratory and other illnesses related to smoking.

This will enable us to keep you informed of the progress, new services and future plans for the cemetery, while at the same time updating the records, some of which go back to 1924.

Please call, stop by, or fill out the attached questionaire. An important heritage of the metro-east area is contained in Sunset Hill and we will set up systems to preserve it.

We are the Herr Family, serving the funeral needs of Madison and St. Clair counties for five generations. Our qualifications and reputation are a matter of record. You may rest assured that Sunset Hill will expand and grow to become an even finer facility, a reverent showplace where pride in our heritage is immediately apparent ... a pleasant place to visit.

Thank you for your co-operation.

Three local men distinguish selves in U.S. Navy service

Three area lads are glowing with pride concerning the Land of Lincoln.

Two months ago, James W. Hutchinson of Granite City, Craig A. Hamilton of Venice and Larry E. Seldon Jr. of Madison were sworn into the Navy as members of the USS Abraham Lincoln Special Recruit Company during a ceremony held in the Old State Capitol, Springfield.

On Friday, Dec. 9, they and the other 72 members of the Lincoln Company distinguished themselves as they graduated as the "Color Company" with the second-highest score of eight companies completing training that day at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill. They were evaluated on academic achievement, military drill, smartness of uniforms and living spaces, physical training and athletics.

Reviewing officer for the graduation ceremony was Captain Stanley W. Bryant, commanding officer of the USS Abraham Lincoln (CVN-72), Precommissioning Unit, where the new recruits will eventually report for duty.

Bryant said, "I'm excited about having them on board, because they represent a cohesive, extraordinarily motivated bunch of guys that will support each other.

"Their identification with the state, with Abraham Lincoln, and with each other will cause nice things to happen aboard the ship, too. It will be a shot in the arm to us."

This is only the second time in the Navy's history that a group of men was enlisted for service aboard a specific ship, the first taking place in Madison, Wis., last year for a group of Wisconsin men who eventually reported to the battleship USS Wisconsin.

The Lincoln Company commander during boot camp, First Class Petty Officer Mark R. Schemmel, also has praise for this group of recruits.

"They're highly motivated and from day one understood the value of teamwork. There's a special bond among them. Even in the physical fitness tests I saw it as they shouted encouragement to each other. There's not a guy out there I wouldn't serve with."

Hutchinson takes personal pride in the Lincoln Company accomplishments, as he was Second Squad leader. Hutchinson says he enlisted for four years "to see the world and learn a new skill." He is interested in the Navy's radioman rating and his next assignment will be "A-School" in San Diego.

Hutchinson, 19, says he is considering making the Navy a career. He is the son of Charles E. Hutchinson of 1216 Meridian St., Granite City, and Carolyne Walker of Bayton, Texas, and is a 1988 graduate of Granite City High School.

Hamilton, 22, says the biggest challenge of boot camp was "adjusting to military life." He enlisted for four years and is interested in the Navy's personnelman rating — individuals who provide enlisted personnel with information and counseling related to Navy occupations, opportunities for general education and job training, requirements for promotion, and rights and benefits.

His next assignment will be airman apprenticeship training at Great Lakes prior to reporting to the ship. Hamilton, a 1984 graduate of Venice High School, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carthell Hamilton Sr. of 605 Washington Ave., Venice.

Seldon says the swimming test was his toughest obstacle in successfully completing boot camp.

He enlisted for four years "to get occupational training and start a career."

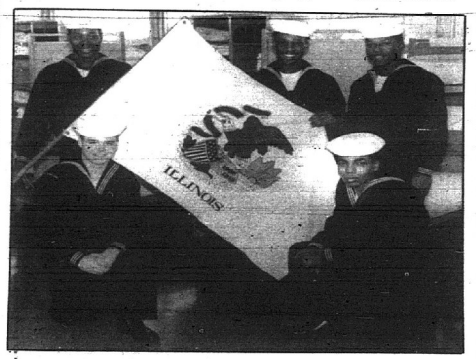

Seldon, 20, has expressed his desire to become a machinist's mate, a Navy rating for those who operate and maintain steam turbines and reduction gears used for ship propulsion, and auxiliary machinery such as turbo-generators, pumps and oil purifiers.

His next assignment is also airman apprenticeship training at Great Lakes, after which he will get orders to the ship. Seldon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry E. Seldon Sr. of Madison, and a 1986 graduate of Madison High School.

At 1,060 feet, the Abraham Lincoln is longer than three football fields placed end to end, and she weighs more than 98,000 tons. Powered by two nuclear reactors, she is capable of speeds of more than 30 knots.

From her 4.5 acres of flight deck, four powerful steam catapults can accelerate 37-ton jets from zero to 140 knots for take-off in only 250 feet.

When her air wing of 90 aircraft is aboard, complete with pilots and support people, the ship will be home to more than 6,000 sailors including, in the not-too-distant future, Hutchinson, Hamilton and Seldon.

NAVY RECRUITS James W. Hutchinson of Granite City (kneeling left), Craig A. Hamilton of Venice (standing center), and Larry E. Seldon Jr. of Madison (standing right) are members of the 1988 USS Abraham Lincoln Special Recruit Company which graduated from boot camp in Great Lakes, Ill., Dec. 9. The three, along with two shipmates, display the Illinois State Flag which Gov. James Thompson presented during their swearing-in ceremony at the Old State Capitol in Springfield on Oct. 19.

WE NEED YOU!!

The Metro-East. Is your home here? Is this where you worship and where your children attend school? Do you earn your living here? If you answered yes to any of these questions ...

The Citizens for Flood Protection Committee NEEDS YOU!!

Sounds like a war slogan, doesn't it? Well, we're at war. Against the Mississippi River. Have been for 80 years.

But in recent years, we have been losing.

We have not kept up our defenses. Our levees and floodgates and canals and drainage ditches are in bad shape.

The river won a major battle in October of 1986, when one of our communities suffered a flood destroying $18 million in property and traumatizing hundreds of citizens.

The U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, our ally, has said that the same destruction can occur in any Metro-East community ... and that we also face the threat of "unprotected floodplain status," which would strangle our economy whether there is a flood or not.

Unprotected status means no mortgage loans for the sale of houses ... no commercial or industrial development ... It means we have no economic future in our region. Only losses for us all.

The Corps of Engineers is ready to go on a $30 million public works project to avert both threats. Our share is $6 million ... only $6 per resident of the region for five years.

This project would protect us from the river, create jobs for hundreds of our workers, avert the threat of flooding and remove the one barrier standing between us and a prosperous future.

And this is why we need your help.

On February 28, voters of the Metro-East will decide our future at the polls. We are asking you to ...

Questions, answers on proposed joint air base

By Rick Arnold
Staff affiliate

BELLEVILLE — Residents who feel they didn't get all their questions answered at a Jan. 4 public information workshop on the proposed civilian expansion of Scott Air Force Base are in luck.

The Illinois Department of Transportation has compiled a list of answers to the most frequently asked questions at the workshop. They are as follows:

Question: How much farmland would be needed?

Answer: Plans call for the purchase of 3,694 acres of farmland. About half of these acres, or 1,700, would be needed for airport development through the year 2005. The remaining 2,000 acres could be used for agricultural purposes.

Question: Would it be necessary to buy farmland adjacent to the airport so the land won't be used in a way detrimental to the airport?

Answer: If the proposed expansion goes through, it will be recommended that the airport operator begin a land acquisition program. It will also be recommended that local communities review their zoning laws so any change in land use wouldn't be detrimental to the airport.

Question: Wouldn't civil air operations urbanize the area and ruin the rural atmosphere?

Answer: Urbanization of the area around Scott is already happening and will probably continue. Land use planning and zoning could be used to control urbanization.

Question: Wouldn't there have to be a tax increase to fund the airport's operating costs until the airport starts to pay for itself?

Answer: Financing details of the airport's construction and operation won't be known until if and when the project is approved and airport ownership is determined. Local financing of the construction would be kept at a minimum with the help of federal and state grants, private investments and revenue bond sales.

Also, revenues from landing fees, concession rentals, the sale of fuel and the joint-use of common military facilities would help fund the operational costs.

Question: Wouldn't outside contractors make most of the profit on the airport?

Answer: The airport would not only provide short-term economic benefits for the contractors, but also long-term benefits for the entire region.

Question: Wouldn't future expansion be restricted by bordering the civilian airport by Interstate 64, Illinois 4, the Norfolk & Southern Railroad and the air base?

Answer: Airport boundaries encompass about 7,000 acres, which is more than adequate to support likely related activities.

Question: Wouldn't automobile traffic be unbearable?

Answer: It's not likely that auto traffic would be a problem, as detailed in the Phase 3 study of the impact of expansion on the air base.

Question: Wouldn't the air base's military functions be crippled by the civilian activity?

Answer: The U.S. Department of Defense would issue a favorable environmental impact statement, if it is favorable, before the project could proceed.

Question: Wouldn't the additional water flow make worse the problem of flooding north of I-64 and Illinois 4, a problem which was originally caused by construction of the interstate highway?

Answer: This item would have to be discussed when talks begin on the airport's design. Proper design and construction would control flooding.

Question: When would owners of land set for acquisition be told when, and how, their land would be bought?

Answer: If the project goes through, it will be recommended that one of the first actions of the airport owners be to meet with the land owners and set policies, procedures and schedules for land buying.

Round two to Pioneers in tourney final

MONTEFF DIXON of East St. Louis Assumption yanks down a rebound in front of Venice's Daryl Jackson during the championship game of the Sparta Tournament on Saturday.

Executive sports editor

SPARTA — Ron Woods looked like he had lost a little weight late Saturday evening.

He looked, in fact, like he had lost the weight of an albatross he had been carrying on his back that looked a lot like a Venice Red Devil. Woods and the Assumption Pioneers (14-3) finally rid themselves of that albatross with a 62-57 win over the Devils in the Sparta Tournament championship game.

It's the first victory in many years for the Pioneers over the Devils (13-4) and the first one for Woods, in his second year at Assumption.

"We knew we could beat them," said Woods. "We have a bench that they don't have and we're a little bigger. But Venice has such a smart team. We feel pretty good about finally beating them. This will help us when we go in there on Friday."

Like Venice's 60-58 win at Assumption on Jan. 6, Saturday's game came down to the final minutes. But whereas the Devils made the plays while the Pioneers (15th in the state Class A poll) crumbled in the first meeting, the situation reversed the second time. Venice led 57-52 with 2:40 remaining, but made two crucial turnovers which the Pioneers turned into points to take a 58-57 lead with 1:52 left.

The Devils then missed their last four shots as Assumption converted a pair of one-and-one free-throw situations to wrap up the win and deny Venice another tournament title. The Devils haven't won a regular-season tournament in the past two years, last winning at Litchfield in 1987.

"Those two turnovers cost us the game," said Clinton Harris. "Our inexperience at guard showed tonight. And we missed a lot of layups during the game. Those and the missed free throws hurt."

The Devils made 4 of 8 free throws in the fourth quarter after making 8 of 10 through three periods. And the Pioneers clamped down on the Devils in the second half. Venice shot only 33 percent from the field and Hosea King was held to six points in the second half after getting 15 in the first 16 minutes.

"These teams know each other so well," said Woods. "Hosea King and Daryl Jackson come to our games when they're not playing and our players watch Venice when we're not playing. And we beat them in a summer tournament in Lebanon. So there are no secrets."

Assumption went to its big men, 6-7 Ian Stanback and 6-4 leaper Monteff Dixon, as they took a 16-13 lead after one quarter. But King was relentless inside and Erwin Claggett (15 points) hit six points late in the half as the Devils took a 32-30 lead into the locker room.

But the Pioneers went up by six in the third quarter until momentum changed again. Dixon missed connections on an alley-oop and was called for a technical when he hung on the rim. Claggett made both free throws and John White scored on the ensuing possession. Dixon missed at the other end and Jackson quickly tied it at 44-44.

"I think Dixon thought there was a guy under him and that's why he grabbed the rim," said Woods. "That could have switched the momentum to Venice, but we came out in a zone and put pressure on them."

SCORING

VENICE	13	19	17	08—57
ESL ASSUMPTION	16	14	18	14—62

VENICE: King 21, Claggett 15 (1 3-pointer), Jackson 12, White 4, Buford 2, Miller 2, Harmon 1. FG-22/66 (1 3-pointer), FT-12/18, PF-11.

ESL ASSUMPTION: Dixon 20 (17 rebounds, 6 assists), Stanback 16 (16 rebounds), Hill 14, Scott 4 (11 rebounds), Horton 4 (8 assists), Mason 2. FG-28/58, FT-6/6, PF-15.

It was 57-52 before Dixon, who had 17 rebounds and six assists to go with 20 points, hit two free throws and Ronald Scott nailed a jumper after a King turnover. Then Claggett made a bad pass that Malcolm Hill stole, and Stanback (16 points, 16 rebounds) put the Pioneers ahead. White, Jackson and King all missed shots while Maurice Horton and Dixon each made two free throw in the last minute.

"At one time we were a terrible free-throw shooting team," said Woods. "We shoot 50 to 100 a day and make them run laps if they don't do well. There has been a lot of running. But I pictured Horton and Dixon going to the line late in this game and that's what happened. And they knocked all four in."

So there was no first-place trophy for the Devils. But Harris has his eyes on another trophy.

"We'll let them have this one," he said. "We're going to get the important one."

That would be the Columbia Regional plaque. The Pioneers and Devils will likely be the top two seeds there from Feb. 20-24. But they'll meet once again before that — Friday in Venice.

"Winning this one will help us going in there," said Woods.

"I guarantee we learned something tonight for the next game," said Harris.

NOTES: Jackson and Dixon were first-team picks for the all-tournament team. King was a second-team choice.

Harris said this Assumption team is the best he's seen. It's also the last he'll see. Assumption High School is definitely closing at the end of the school year. That's bad news for the football program, which is one of

Matmen take SWC; sweep Jerseyville quad to go 20-8

JERSEYVILLE — It's another 20-victory season and a Southwestern Conference title for the Warrior wrestlers.

Granite City swept three matches at a quad meet in Jerseyville on Saturday, knocking off SWC rival Collinsville 40-23 to complete a sweep of their league rivals this year. The Warriors followed that with a 37-27 win over Triad and an easy 68-7 win over the host school to raise their dual meet record to 20-8.

Mike Garland's squad completed a week in which it won five straight matches after coming off a three-match losing streak.

Continuing his best Whitey Herzog impersonation, Garland again used a different lineup on Saturday — a lineup which even changed after the Collinsville matchup. In that one, the Warriors and Kahoks were tied 25-25 before Brad Massey, Larry Hahne and Rocky Moss picked up victories in the final three bouts.

Massey (21-7-2) scored a 6-0 decision over Mike Ogle at 171, then Hahne (19-11-4) pinned Mike Semanisin to wrap it up before Moss pinned David Brightwell in 4:37.

Garland used freshman Ryan King at 103 and sophomore Brian Kershaw at 112 while moving Todd Hutchinson, Bryan Pritchett and Brent Davis up one weight class each. Doug Edwards wrestled at 185 against Collinsville before Jerry Heubschman relieved him for the other two matches. Jerold Moss went at 140 against Collinsville and Jerseyville, but Doug Norton took his spot against Triad.

Pritchett, Davis and Rocky Moss were all 3-0 on the day. Pritchett had three pins for a 30-4 record and 17 pins. Moss had two pins and a forfeit win for a 9-6 record with eight pins. Davis had one pin for a 33-1 record with 20 pins. Massey had two wins and a tie on the day and was the only other Warrior not to lose at least one match.

The Warriors trailed 24-22 to Triad until Grayson got a decision and Massey won by forfeit. James Newcomb beat Hahne to close Granite City's margin to 31-27, but Moss gained a forfeit victory at heavyweight. Granite City then had eight pins in the landslide win over Jerseyville.

Schnefke, skaters stay hot

ST. LOUIS — Any hopes Garry Henson might have had about Matt Schnefke emerging as one of the most explosive high school hockey players in the area this year are coming true.

Schnefke scored three goals on Saturday as the Warriors scored a big 6-4 victory over Hazelwood Central at the North County rink to stay alive in the North Division race. It was the fourth straight game in which the junior forward had scored three goals or more.

Granite City is now 7-2 in North Division play and 8-7 overall in Mid States Club Hockey Association competition. The Warriors picked up an extra win last week when it was announced Kirkwood would have to forfeit several games because it used ineligible players. One of those games was a win over Granite City early in the season.

"We're playing well now," said Henson, whose team had won four straight going into Monday's home game against Chaminade and had yet to lose in the new year. "There was a lot of team spirit on Saturday. I put it to them bluntly. I said we weren't going anywhere this year if we didn't win this game and they did it."

Jim Roberson had two more goals, giving him two in each of the three games he has played since rejoining the team.

"He was a little slow at first, but he's getting into shape," said Henson. "We can put two pretty good lines on the ice in the playoffs."

The Warriors also got a solid contribution from sophomore defenseman Larry Wright, who was called up because Nathan Weaver and Mike Naeve were unavailable Saturday playing with the Crusaders hockey team.

Granite City could win the North Division with a win over McCluer North next Monday at Wilson Park, but it would take a sizable margin of victory and a sizable victory margin for McCluer over Hazelwood Central on Monday.

"We'll probably get second place if we win," Henson said.

Schnefke is close to the top of the North Division scoring race with 40 points in 15 games. He scored four goals in an 11-3 division win over Francis Howell on Friday. Roberson scored twice in that one as well.

"We played a couple of bad games early and allowed some sloppy goals in the Francis Howell game that might end up costing us the division," Henson said. "And Jason Bucatch scored a goal Saturday that the referees didn't see. Then they got a goal that bounced off the end boards and went in off (goalie) John Rains' back. But John is playing much better now than he was at this point last year."

NOTES: A game with Lafayette has been rescheduled for the third time. It will not be played tonight, but will be played at Wilson Park at 8:15 p.m. on Feb. 1...Monday's game against McCluer North is the last home game of the season.

Stolen flag doesn't phase Illini fan

By Martin Richter
Staff affiliate

BELLEVILLE — Lyle Fischer isn't confident the orange and blue Fighting Illini flag stolen from in front of his tavern Jan. 13 will be returned, but he is confident the university's red-hot hoopsters will continue to win.

Fischer, 67, has been a faithful fan of the Fighting Illini since he accompanied some friends to Champaign-Urbana for a football game in 1952, the same year he opened Fischer's Tavern in Belleville.

Since then, he has been an avid follower of both the football and basketball teams and has attended virtually every home football game. With the success of the U of I basketball team this year, Fischer had been flying his Illini flag every day in front of his tavern, right beside the Stars and Stripes.

On Jan. 13, he took in the American flag, but when he returned for the Illini flag, it was gone.

Fischer said he has already ordered a new flag to replace the stolen one, which was a gift from some of his customers who are Illini fans.

The flag was presented as a surprise to Fischer at a luncheon at Fischer's Restaurant more than 20 years ago. Former state Rep. Wayne Williams made the presentation, calling Fischer a faithful fan.

"This happened once before about 25 years ago," Fischer said of having his flag stolen. "That time the police caught them before the sun went down and I got my flag back. They missed a stop sign in Fayetteville and got caught."

A shelf behind the bar at Fischer's Tavern is crowded with Illini memorabilia — a football, a basketball, a cap, beer mugs, etc. — but patrons still miss the flag, Fischer said.

"My customers are disappointed," he said. "People go by and they don't see the flag out there anymore. I get phone calls asking me if I'm going to get a new one, so I guess I'll have to."

Meanwhile, the loss of the flag so far seems to have had no effect on the Fighting Illini basketball team, which is 15-0 and ranked first in the country. Illinois survived a double overtime scare at home on Sunday and beat Georgia Tech 102-89 to take over the top spot from Duke, which started the week unbeaten, but lost two games in a row.

"Chances are Illinois is probably the better team right now," Fischer said.

Asked if his business is better when the Illini are winning, Fischer smiled.

"Everything's better when Illinois is winning," he said.

Heinz's book looks at realities of hockey

By Pat Matreci
Staff affiliate

Rick Heinz was not a household name during his nine-year professional hockey career. In fact, Heinz played in only 49 National Hockey League games with the St. Louis Blues and Vancouver Canucks.

One might ask what business a career backup goaltender has writing a book about life as a pro hockey player? After all, he never played on a Stanley Cup champion, although he came close with Vancouver in 1982.

In Heinz's case, his aim is to inform aspiring young hockey players about the hard facts of life for non-superstars.

Heinz's first book, entitled "Many Are Called...Few Are Signed" (Heinz Publishing, Division of J.N.R. Heinz Group Ltd., July 1988, $21.95), was released in October.

"This isn't about goaltending," he said while stopping over in St. Louis last week on his promotional tour. "It's about the realities of professional hockey decisions, how management plays with your mind, how they have power to determine your career."

It's not a sour-grapes dissertation by a guy who took a few too many pucks in the chops. Heinz just wants starry-eyed kids who dream of being a pro hockey player to see how tough it really is to become a professional player.

"Canadian youngsters, and an increasing number of American kids, spend their entire lives being hockey players trying to make it in the NHL," Heinz said. "Talent alone doesn't get you into the NHL. If some guy doesn't like a kid when he finally gets the chance, it could destroy his career. Then what's the kid going to do?"

Heinz hopes his book will have an answer to that question. He examines the structure and workings of the game from beginning level all the way through the pro ranks as well as retirement from the game. He offers tips for a player to earn a college scholarship, what it's like to attend one's first training camp and what's involved with signing the first contract.

"I wanted to write a book to help young hockey players coming up — that's the bottom line of the book," Heinz said. "Second, it's a help to parents because when a kid comes home and says, 'I want to play hockey,' it's a family project. Parents don't know how to council. And it gives the average hockey fan behind-the-scenes stories that are entertaining."

Heinz, 33, has been out of hockey for two seasons. He and his brother Nick formed their own publishing company and contracted out all the work involved with putting together the book. The whole project was completed in about 15 months. Copies were circulated in all 21 NHL cities and the response has been positive.

"I've been on radio and television shows, and people have been just great," Heinz said. "There hasn't been a bad review yet."

Perhaps that is because Heinz bluntly describes what it's like to not be one of the sport's glamour boys — and that the odds against making it to the NHL are far greater than most would realize.

In Canada, for example, there are some 500,000 registered youth hockey players. In 1987, there were 397 Canadians playing in the NHL. Rounded off to 400 and divided into 500,000, the odds for the average youngster making it to the pros is approximately 1,250 to 1.

"That's what bothered me the most," Heinz said. "Kids put a lot of time and effort into being a hockey player. Some of them may only play two or three years if they're fortunate, then get thrown out onto the street and not know what to do with themselves. There are a lot of factors involved with getting into the NHL and the player has no control over them. They need to know, and hopefully this book will shed a little light on that."

Ex-goalie enjoys retirement

By Pat Matreci
Staff affiliate

Rick Heinz has fond memories of his days as a National Hockey League goaltender, but is enjoying his life away from the ice after retiring from the game two seasons ago.

"I don't miss it a bit," Heinz said. "Greg Millen (current Blues goaltender) came off the ice (after a recent workout at The Arena) and said, 'You don't miss those pucks, do you?' I said, 'No, not one bit.' I do miss the lifestyle and the paychecks, but not the pressure and the pucks."

Heinz, born in Essex, Ont., left home at the age of 15 to pursue a hockey career. His travels took him to Chatham for junior hockey, the University of Minnesota-Duluth and nine seasons at the pro level with the Blues and the Vancouver Canucks.

"I wasn't a good skater, and I got in goal because I was a little bit of a hotdog," Heinz said. "I wanted to be a hero. But I didn't realize most goalies are goats more than heroes. Of course it depends on the teams you're playing with, but I seemed to be on the bad ones."

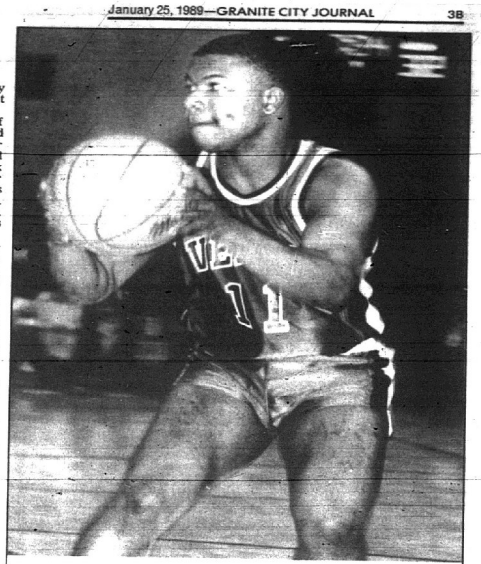

In five NHL seasons, Heinz played in 49 games. He compiled a 14-19-5 record with a 4.05 goals-against average and two shutouts.

Heinz said his fondest memories include his first NHL save, in which he stopped Marcel Dionne of the Los Angeles Kings on a breakaway attempt. Another was shutting out the Islanders 6-0 before a packed Arena crowd.

But there was also a down side to being a pro.

"My second or third year pro, things weren't going well and I thought playing hockey would be a piece of cake — you sign a contract and live happily ever after. But I found out everybody struggles. You're always looking over your shoulder."

Heinz, who also is a licensed realtor in Toronto, said kiddingly that it was a bold move in becoming an author. But it's a move he's glad he made, and he has formulated plans for a second book about how youngsters can earn hockey scholarships.

Racing banquet Saturday in Belleville

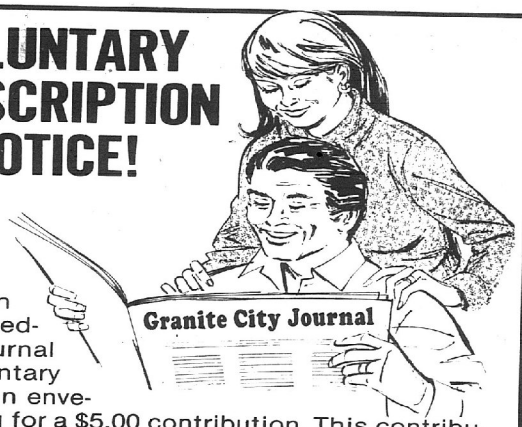

Local racing champions, including Granite City's Dwight Wade, will be honored along with more than 30 other members of the racing fraternity at the 22nd annual Banquet of Champions hosted by the St. Louis Auto Racing Fan Club.

This year's banquet will be held at Augustine's Conference Center in Belleville on Jan. 28. Drivers, crews and members of the media will be honored for outstanding accomplishments and contributions to auto racing.

Wade was the 1988 track champion at Godfrey Speedway in the street stocks. Other track champions from Illinois to be honored are Rick Bayer of East Carondelet (St. Charles Speedway, sportsman), Jim Maly of Caseyville and Darren Rueter of Freeburg (Allied Auto Racing champions); John Seets Sr. of Brighton (Tri-City and Godfrey, sportsman) and John Stanton of Godfrey (Tri-City and Godfrey, overall street stock champion).

Other special awards will be given out at the banquet which is open to the public. Many race cars from all types of racing will be on display. The doors will open at 5 p.m. For more information, contact Lois Taylor at 314-569-1815 or Dennis Dorries at 228-7006. Tickets can also be purchased at these numbers.

BAC staff may get pay hike

By Rick Arnold
Staff affiliate

BELLEVILLE — After a salary freeze for the past two years, Belleville Area College faculty and staff members may get a pay increase this time around, college officials said.

Contract negotiations for the coming fiscal year, which begins July 1, should begin in early March, said Larry Reinneck, chairman of the BAC Board of Trustees.

"We've earmarked some money for pay increases," Reinneck said Tuesday. "The board has agreed there will be money for increases."

Reinneck declined to say how much money the board has put aside for salary increases. He added that the board has yet to decide which employee groups might get increases, and the amount of any possible increases.

Reinneck said the college has many employee groups, which include faculty, administrators, secretaries and custodians, and there are both full-time and part-time workers in each group. The board's Personnel Committee, headed by Trustee Dan Wolford, has not yet "fine-tuned" contract offers for the various employee groups, Reinneck said.

Reinneck said the important thing this time is the board does have some money to offer. In 1987, faculty and staff members voluntarily accepted a pay freeze because of the college's financial woes.

College officials avoided ending the 1987-88 school year with a budget deficit by making $1 million worth of overall budget cuts in the spring of 1988.

"We're coming to the (negotiating) table with some good news," Reinneck said. "We're coming forward in a positive spirit."

Increased enrollments are the primary reason college officials can now talk about salary raises, Reinneck said.

Leo Welch, president of the college's faculty union, said a faculty committee is now analyzing the college's enrollment data and other financial statistics, in order to help it better prepare its negotiating strategy.

Welch said it is premature to say how much of a pay increase faculty members would want.

Both sides said they haven't decided who will make up their negotiating teams, though BAC President Joe Cipfl has said he will be one of the board's representatives.

Though money is usually the main item of discussion in contract negotiations, Reinneck said he fully expects both sides to bring up other issues, such as working conditions and benefit plans.

County wants automatic sales tax distribution

By John D. Milazzo
Staff affiliate

EDWARDSVILLE — The Madison County Board on Jan. 18 unanimously approved a resolution urging area state legislators to work for changes to achieve a new state sales tax policy.

The board wants distribution of sales taxes to continue on an automatic, assured basis.

Without those changes, the county potentially could find itself short of as much as $4 million in sales tax revenues it now receives automatically, the board was told.

County Director of Administration James K. Monday told the board that the resolution, offered by finance committee chairman Bill Little, D-Alton, is intended to direct area legislators' attention to county officials' concern regarding the overhauled state sales tax law.

Monday said that as part of comprehensive changes in the sales tax law approved in the General Assembly last summer, a new 6¼-cent state sales tax is to be implemented in January 1990.

Of sales taxes now collected, 5 percent goes to the state, 1 percent is returned to local municipalities or counties and — in counties such as Madison where the board has approved such a levy — a quarter-cent supplemental sales tax is also returned to the county.

Madison County last March adopted the supplemental quarter-cent sales tax as provided for by state statute. The supplemental tax, which would be used to help pay for a new county administration building, went into effect July 1.

Monday said that, under the present sales tax collection policy, the Illinois Department of Revenue collects sales taxes and automatically returns the local share of revenues to local governing entities.

Following the Wednesday meeting, Monday said county officials fear that under the new system, the state could simply choose not to appropriate and return the local share of sales tax revenues.

In such an event, he said, "I'm sure (legislators) would consider that decision well reasoned, but it could also be done very arbitrarily."

Without statutory modifications to make the return of "appropriate local amounts" automatic, "the legislature could hold hostage local money or divert portions of it," Monday said.

Teach old dogs new tricks at winter class

The Madison County Humane Society is sponsoring a 10-week obedience class beginning Jan. 30 at Cottonwood Mall in Glen Carbon. The fee is $35 per dog.

The class is held in the former Ballweg's Drugstore. Registration begins at 6:30 p.m.

Owners must provide proof of current vaccination, a choke collar and a 6-foot leather lead. Collars and leads will be available for purchase at the class. The Humane Society may be called at 656-4405.

Tampa International offers efficient bridge to travelers

Tampa International Airport, a very efficient and well-designed airport, is the gateway for millions of annual visitors to the west-central coast of Florida, while Interstate 74 and 4 bring millions more to this sightseeing hub.

Brochures, maps and literature on the Tampa Bay area are available from the Greater Tampa Chamber of Commerce, P.O. Box 420, 801 East Kennedy Blvd., Tampa, Fla. 33601, (813) 228-7777.

Those interested in brochures on Busch Gardens/The Dark Continent should write to the theme park at P.O. Box 9158, Tampa, Fla. 33674. Busch Gardens is at 3000 Busch Blvd., two miles west of Interstate 75, (813) 971-8282.

Those who wish more information on all the communities that make up the Pinellas Suncoast, and their attractions, should write to Pinellas County Tourism, 4625 East Bay Drive, Suite 109, Clearwater, Fla. 33546, (813) 530-6452.

Ships added to European routes

Princess Cruises will more than triple its passenger capacity in Europe during the 1989 season when the Royal Princess and Dawn Princess (formerly Sitmar's FairWind) enter European waters for the first time.

The 1,200-passenger Royal Princess, which has been in the Panama Canal and Alaska areas since December 1984, will replace the 600-passenger Pacific Princess in Europe. The Royal Princess will begin its Mediterranean-Europe cruise series April 15. From April to November, eight different 12- to 14-day itineraries that include such countries as Portugal, Spain, Italy, Great Britain, Scandinavia and Russia.

Fares begin at $2,640 per person, double occupancy and include round-trip air transportation. Passengers who book by Jan. 31 will receive a $250 discount.

The 925-passenger Dawn Princess will begin its Mediterranean and Northern Europeschedule on April 22. After a trans-Atlantic sailing, seven different 12-day itineraries will be available from May to October. Countries to be visited include Portugal, Italy and Denmark.

Fares begin at $2,465 per person, double occupancy and does not include air transportation. If passengers book three months prior to departure, they may save between $250 and $350.

The Pacific Princess will be in Alaska for summer 1989.

Those who wish more information should call the Princess at (213) 553-1666 or see their travel agent.

Tampa Bay satisfying blend of big-city culture, beaches

By Tom and Joanne O'Tolle
Staff affiliate

Greater Tampa Bay and its Pinellas Suncoast neighbors seem to offer them a perfect blend of big-city cultural amenities — sugar-sand beaches, moderate temperatures with cool gulf breezes, great sports facilities and attractions by the score. As a result, the area is one of the fastest growing and most visited parts of Florida.

But baseball Cardinal fans know Tampa/St. Petersburg has a special allure — spring training.

The Cardinals will play 14 games at Al Lang field; the season opens March 3. Fans who want tickets can send a letter and check to St. Louis Cardinals Spring Training Tickets, c/o Al Lang Field, P.O. Box 12557, St. Petersburg, Fla. 33733. Reserved seats are $5, box seats $6. Bleacher bums can get in the park for $3 and tickets go on sale the day of the game. Although it always is good to have tickets in hand (you will avoid long lines in front of the ticket windows), there generally are plenty of tickets to go around — unless the Cubs or Mets are in town.)

If you go, remember that Florida will be in its high tourist season, which means high room rates. And spring break usually collides with Grapefruit League action, so you will have to make room reservations well in advance. But once you arrive, get ready for some fun.

Tampa

Downtown Tampa already has made the leap into the 21st century. Sparkling glass and steel towers dominate the skyline and in their shadows a new performing arts center, a number of luxury hotels and a pleasant pedestrian mall are bringing people into the city. A convention center that will be completed in August 1990 surely will draw more people downtown.

One end of Franklin Street (the mall) is lined with department stores, small shops and the splendid, restored, 1,450-seat Tampa Theater. At the other end are city hall and the $85-million Tampa City Center Esplanade, an inviting mix of fountains, greenery, shaded benches and restaurants with outdoor patios.

Across the street is the departure point for the people mover — a tram similar to the kind used at Tampa's airport — which takes only 90 seconds to cross the Garrison Channel to Harbour Island.

Once a 200-acre weed pile, Harbour Island is today a multimillion-dollar complex embracing the 300-room ultra-service Harbour Island Hotel, a high-rise office tower, expensive condominiums and the popular two-level Harbour Market. Locals and visitors come to the market place to shop its boutiques and galleries, ride its old-fashioned carousel, nibble their way past a long list of colorful food counters, or sit down to dine at one of its full-service restaurants. There is patio dining on the terrace, giving customers the opportunity to watch boaters and scullers on the channel.

In downtown Tampa, near scenic Bayshore Boulevard, is the Tampa Bay Hotel that was built in 1883 for $3 million. Now the building houses the Henry B. Plant Museum and University of Tampa. Considered an excellent example of Moorish architecture, its 13 silver minarets make it impossible to miss. The museum displays Oriental art, antiques and a few of the hotel's original rooms.

Tampa's Latin Quarter is Ybor City. It was founded in 1885 by Cuban cigar makers. The quarter is now being restored and visitors can tour the Ybor City State Museum, that showcases history of the ethnic community and highlighting the cigar industry during its heyday. At the adjacent Preservation Park, six of the cigar makers' homes have been preserved and are open to the public. Shoppers can visit the Farmers Market and Ybor Square — three four-story brick buildings that once housed the cigar factory of Vicente Martinez Ybor and are now on the National Register of Historic Places.

Today's Ybor Square is a four-level entertainment center filled with antique stores, gift shops and eateries. The main street of Ybor City and its neighborhood clubs are being renovated, while turn-of-the-century gas lights and fancy wrought iron balconies are beginning to reappear, along with new shops and art galleries.

You won't want to miss dining at the original Columbia Restaurant with its Spanish-tile facade and 11 dining rooms seating 1,600 people. The famous landmark covers a city block.

You also will find plenty to do in the big city — good theater and loads of spectator sports. There is greyhound and thoroughbred racing, fast-paced Jai Alai, one professional football team, soccer and a number of baseball spring training camps.

Busch Gardens/The Dark Continents, a family-oriented theme park eight miles from downtown Tampa, is the third most visited attraction in Florida and by far the most popular on the state's west coast. If you are not a theme-park addict, skip it. And it is expensive — admission is $20.95, with children 2 and under free — and there is a $2 charge to park your car.

Pinellas Suncoast

Two lengthy bridges and the Courtney Campbell Causeway link Tampa to the Pinellas Suncoast, a 30-mile stretch of eight Gulf-coast communities extending from Tarpon Springs south to St. Petersburg. Each has something different to offer in the way of attractions and most have wide, sugar-sand beaches.

Sitting at the top of this sun-soaked strip is a touch of ancient Greece. As Cuban cigar makers moved to Tampa at the turn of the century, Greek sponge fishermen came from Key West to Tarpon Springs. Today visitors strolling Dodecanese Boulevard still can sample a bit of Greek life.

Don't miss a meal at Pappas Restaurant, where fresh seafood and Greek specialities are the order of the day.

Outside of town is the Innisbrook Resort complex, offering a combination of great golfing, recreational facilities, fully equipped condo rentals, good dining and even a spa experience.

KSHE Morning Zoo brother a 'Smash' hit

By Deborah Reinhardt
Staff affiliate

It's a Tuesday and the Morning Zoo at KSHE-FM (94.7) again is embroiled in controversy. This time it centers around rocker Billy Squier, who seemingly has disappeared from rock 'n' roll. A caller wants to know what happened to him.

"Billy Squier has died a pusillanimous death," says Smash, one of the Morning Zoo "brothers." "He may not be all the way dead but he's definitely not happening."

The female caller is crushed. Truth is not always pretty.

Smash then plays the song that was the beginning of Squier's end, "Rock Me Tonight," while John Ulett fakes groans into the microphone, squirming in his chair, imitating Squier's writhing in the horrible "Rock Me Tonight" video. Smash is laughing uncontrollably.

And another day with The Morning Zoo "bru-THAHs," as Smash calls them, rolls on.

Jan. 28 marks the first anniversary of Smash joining KSHE. Smash, who is keeper of the Morning Zoo, has a legion of listeners but most fans probably do not know his story.

Smash, 39, has been in the rock 'n' roll business for 21 years. For 10 years before his radio days began, he enjoyed success in the Midwest in a band initially named Frenchie and the Gui Ouis, then Pure Funk and finally Roadmaster.

Smash's radio career began when the station manager at WNAP-FM in Indianapolis invited him to try his hand at being a disc jockey. Smash was thrown into the studio, given a brief technical explanation, and abandoned. But he came through and stayed at the station 2½ years.

He left WNAP to work for cross-town rival WIKS-FM, then moved to DC101 in Washington, D.C. He left Washington for New York to work as a VJ (video jockey) on MTV.

"As an entertainer, I always try to find out how capable I am," Smash says. "The best way to tell whether you're doing anything is to go someplace where nobody knows you and see if you can get over."

After the six-week MTV stint, Smash was looking at a gig for a New York City Top 40 station when he heard about the opening at KSHE. He remembered hearing about KSHE while growing up in Indianapolis. He left the Big Apple and moved to St. Louis.

"I made the correct decision," he says, in his familiar gravelly voice.

On the air, Smash is a supercool, rock 'n' roll wild man. But while the voice is the same when seeing him in person, his public personality cools down quite a bit.

He is a gracious, friendly and likable man who knows his business well and is driven to be good at it.

Born in Veroia, Macedonia, in Greece, Smash (whose real name is Asher Benrubi) and his family emigrated to America in 1951. They settled in Indianapolis where he and two sisters grew up.

Smash says he is proud of his family. His father was a plumber.

"Mom and Pop came over here with nothing and made it," he says. "Pop is cool and retired and he don't have to do nothing because he worked hard. They instilled in us kids the drive to work hard and succeed."

His parents still live in Indianapolis. Smash has a sister in St. Louis and another sister in Denver. Smash, his wife and two of their children live in Chesterfield; a son, 19, is away at college.

The desire to succeed is most evident in Smash's radio career. He is fed by the competitive St. Louis radio market, which is the best-kept secret in the country, Smash says.

KSHE has pulled ahead of its competitor, KSD-FM (93.7), in the Arbitron ratings. KSHE scored more than a seven-point share for spring and summer 1988, compared to KSD's six points.

But the ratings game does not hold much meaning for Smash.

"I do the best I can do and hope it's good enough," he says. "I don't get excited when the ratings go up or depressed when they go down. All I worry about is entertaining the community."

MORNING ZOO's Smash gets plenty of laughs during his radio show on KSHE.

Smash: rollin' with changes

Smash, a Morning Zoo "brother" on KSHE-FM (94.7), has been in the rock 'n' roll business more than half his life. He has seen many changes, but the biggest probably is the evolution of rock's universal acceptance.

"At one time, rock 'n' roll was the kids' music. Now it's everybody's music," Smash says.

Some parents, however, not only do not listen to rock, they do not want their children listening. Smash said he believes the problem lies with adults advocating censorship.

"It's like if you don't like it, don't listen. That's why they put the dial on the radio and television set," he says. "Maybe it's not the rock 'n' rollers who are on the edge, it's the person they happen to hit who goes off the deep end."

Smash, who was a lead vocalist with the Midwestern rock band Roadmaster before playing rock on the radio, is fascinated by the people he meets in the industry. Bono of U2 and Bob Seger are among the scores of rock 'n' rollers he has met.

"I understand the bull — that you have to go through," Smash says.

Smash said the success of the Morning Zoo is attributed to the brothers' different backgrounds. Rob Buttery brings his sense of humor and television knowledge to their radio show. Craig Hawksley can talk about sports. And John Ulett brings credibility from 13 years at KSHE to the Morning Zoo. "He's part of the St. Louis tradition," Smash says.

Lifestyle can affect your risk of cancer

The following column contains answers to questions that are frequently asked at Lieutenant Governor Ryan's Senior Action Centers. The Centers' toll-free phone number is 1-800-252-8565.

Q. I lost my husband to cancer this year. In addition to the obvious emotional shock, it's made me take stock of my lifestyle and how it may affect my risk of cancer. Do you have any booklets or information on this?

A. In the past few years, scientists have identified many causes of cancer. Current studies indicate that as much as 80 percent of cancer cases are associated with the way people live their lives. Whether they smoke, the foods they eat and the work they do - all can tie in to people's cancer susceptibility. Once you are aware of factors that might place you at greater risk of contacting cancer, you can act accordingly.

For example, it is thought that about one-third of all cancer deaths may be related to what people eat. By making positive choices in your diet every day you encourage good health and nutrition and possibly reduce your risk of getting cancer.

Keep in mind seven simple guidelines for a healthy diet:

•1. Eat a variety of foods. It is important to eat a wide variety of foods each day. Include fruits and vegetables, lean meats, poultry without skin and fish, whole cereals, and low-fat dairy products.

•2. Maintain desirable weight. Being overweight is associated with heart disease, high blood pressure and diabetes, as well as cancer.

•3. Eat food with adequate starch and fiber. A higher fiber diet that includes vegetables, fruit, potatoes, whole grain breads and cereals may help cut back the chances of getting colon and rectal cancer.

•4. Avoid too much sodium. Too much sodium may contribute to high blood pressure. Those with a family history of the disease should be especially cautious: Bear in mind that high blood pressure left untreated can lead to heart attacks, strokes, and kidney disease.

•5. Avoid too much fat, saturated fat, and cholesterol. A diet low in total fat may reduce the risk of cancer of the breast, prostate, colon, and rectum as well as lower the possibility of heart disease.

•6. Drink alcoholic beverages only in moderation. Heavy drinking is associated with cancers of the mouth, throat, esophagus and liver. If you are a smoker, the combination of smoking and drinking alcohol increases your chances of getting cancer. Also remember that alcoholic drinks are "empty calories" high in calories but low in vitamins and minerals.

•7. Avoid too much sugar. Sugary foods tend to be high in fat and calories and low in vitamins and minerals. And of course, a diet high in sugar promotes tooth decay.

But don't fret. It isn't necessary to make these changes overnight and you don't have to give up all the foods you like to protect yourself from cancer. Just try to choose more frequently the foods that may reduce your risks of cancer instead of those foods that may heighten your risks of getting the disease.

One of the more workable approaches? Start by adding vegetables and fruit to your diet gradually over several weeks. While shopping, you may add one more low-fat dairy product in place of a product made with whole milk. Then, replace a product made with refined flours or processed grains, such as white bread, with one that is more nutritionally beneficial such as whole wheat or rye breads-made from 100 percent whole grain flours.

Be choosy when shopping for groceries. Before purchasing a product read the labels to select those foods high in fiber and vitamins A and C, but low in fat. Many manufacturers list calories, protein, fat, carbohydrates, vitamins, minerals, and fiber on package labels. Nutritionally speaking, it pays to compare.

But food concerns don't stop once you've bought the groceries. Choose cooking methods that add no fats to your foods; bake, steam, poach, roast, or use a microwave oven. Should you decide to broil, grill, or barbecue, it advisable to protect foods from direct contact with smoke, flame, and extremely high temperatures.

Also try to exercise the following Cancer Prevention Tips:

•Avoid too much sunlight; wear protective clothing; use sunscreens, especially if you're fair skinned.

•Unnecessary X-rays should be avoided.

•If you drink alcoholic beverages, do so in moderation.

•Don't smoke or use tobacco in any form.

•Take estrogens only as long as necessary.

•Follow the health and safety rules of your workplace.

Short-term solution to illness becomes only stop-gap cure

By Jacqueline Lankfer
Registered dietitian
American Heart Association

Many people are looking for a quick fix for their high blood cholesterol levels. Is there a pill or certain cereal that will cure all that is ailing?

It is only human to expect an accurate diagnosis quickly and cure of an ailment just as quickly. Most people do not think they have time for the preventive measures that might interfere with well-entrenched habits or the pursuit of happiness.

Individuals with a history of elevated cholesterol levels often face coronary bypass surgery in an effort to prevent a heart attack. The surgery offers a so-called quick fix, but in reality it only gives the person time to change his lifestyle to slow down the progress of arterial deterioration.

A book on the best seller list promises to lower a blood cholesterol level in eight weeks. The book promises yet another quick fix a high cholesterol problem.

To reduce the risk of heart attack and stroke, a person must achieve and maintain a blood cholesterol under 200 milligrams per deciliter for a lifetime. There is no quick-fix cure for elevated cholesterol just as there is no quick cure for diabetes, obesity or hypertension. In all these conditions, control of the medical problem relies on adherence to a carefully prescribed program of proper nutrition, exercise and sometimes drugs.

Unfortunately, many feel that a drug prescription alone will take care of the problem. Research indicates that drug therapy works best when a low-fat diet and regular exercise are also a part of the total program.

The first step in the reduction — or "reducing" — of high blood cholesterol levels is the reduction of all fats in the daily diet. This can be achieved best by limiting meat, fish and poultry consumption to no more than 6 ounces per day; using no-fat or low-fat (1 percent or less) dairy products, and restricting use of added fats (salad dressings, margarine, spreads and cooking oils) to 5 to 8 teaspoons per day. In most, these changes along with regular exercise achieve desirable results.

If a low-fat diet and regular exercise fail to show desirable cholesterol levels, other aspects can be added to the diet before drug therapy may be necessary. These include the addition of soluble fibers—oats, beans, fruit, etc., and the use of monounsaturated fats like olive oil and an increased consumption of omega-3 fatty acids found in fish.

The following recipe for Swedish Dill Sauce is a perfect low-fat alternative for traditional dips used with seafood and some vegetables.

Swedish dill sauce

- ½ tsp. dry mustard powder
- ½ tsp. water
- 1½ tsp. onion flakes or 1 tbsp. finely chopped onion
- 1 tsp. dill weed
- 1 tbsp. vinegar
- ¾ cup chopped, peeled cucumber
- ¾ cup low-fat plain yogurt

Combine mustard and water in small mixing bowl. Let stand 10 minutes. Add onion flakes, dill weed, vinegar, cucumber and yogurt. Mix thoroughly.

Serve cold as accompaniment for hot or chilled fish, as a dip for raw vegetables or as a dressing for sliced cucumbers.

Yields 2 servings. Each provides about 45 calories, 1.4 gm. fat, 33 mg. sodium and 5 mg. cholesterol.

Beef Cook-Off recipes due

Creative beef cooks still have a chance to enter this year's Illinois Beef Cook-Off, but time is running out. The deadline for entering the contest is March 1.

The winner of the Illinois Beef Cook-Off will be eligible to compete in the Conventional category at the 1989 National Beef Cook-Off for a first prize of $5,000 cash, plus have a chance at the $10,000 "Best of Beef" award. Contestants from all 50 states will compete in this contest, which will be held Sept. 17-19 in Portland, Ore.

Another way to reach the national contest is to win one of seven regional contests in the Microwave or Outdoor Barbecue categories. National winners of each of the three categories will win $5,000 and the chance for the $10,000 "Best of Beef" award. Second and third prizes of $3,000 and $2,000 in the conventional category, along with $1,000 prizes for the "Most Convenient" and "Under 300 Calories/Serving" recipes, will also be presented. A total of $32,000 in prize money will be awarded.

That's not all. First-prize national winners also will receive appliances from Tappan and premium charcoal from Kingsford, official sponsors of the 1989 National Beef Cook-Off. First-prize winner of the Illinois Beef Cook-Off, which will be held May 21-22 at the Clock Tower Resort & Conference Center in Rockford, will win an all-expenses paid trip to the national contest in Portland.

Those who wish to enter should send their recipe or recipes to Violet Johns, 3157 Spielman Road, Pecatonica, Ill. 61063. Entries must be postmarked by March 1. The National Beef Cook-Off is sponsored by the American National Cattle Women in cooperation with the Beef Industry Council of the Meat Board.

Chili con queso dip

- ¼ cup chopped onions
- 2 cans (4 oz. each) diced green chilies, well drained
- 2 large garlic cloves, finely diced or crushed
- 1 tbsp. oil
- 2 pkg. (8 oz. each) sliced process sharp cheddar cheese, cut up
- ¼ cup milk
- 2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
- 2 medium tomatoes, peeled, seeded, finely diced

Cook onions, chilies and garlic in oil in medium saucepan over low heat 10 minutes. Add cheese. Cook and stir until melted.

Gradually stir in milk, Worcestershire sauce and tomatoes. Cook over low heat 10 to 15 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Keep warm in chafing dish or fondue pot.

Serve with corn chips or vegetable relishes.

Makes 4 cups dip.

LAMB CHOPS offer diners a feast of flavors.

Flavorful dinner warms mind, body

Few people have time to cook elaborate meals during the week with the hectic pace of work, school and after-hours schedules. Still, a dinner table is where people meet to discuss a day's activities, relax and enjoy the evening hours. A tasty, nutritious dinner that is quick to fix and appealing is a necessity.

Lamb Chops Dijon turn everyday ingredients — lamb chops, dried mint, rosemary and mustard — into a tantalizing blend of flavors and textures in a matter of moments. Add tender, cooked noodles tossed with parsley and a little butter and a green salad for a warming dinner that will inspire a convivial group.

Nutritious, too, Lamb Chops Dijon provide a hearty dinner that is relatively low in fat if the lamp chops are trimmed. Peach halves packed in juice will add few calories and little sugar, yet they retain high levels of vitamins A and C, niacin and iron.

Lamb chops dijon

- ½ can (16 oz.) peach halves
- 1½ tsp. cornstarch
- ½ tsp. Dijon mustard
- Pinch rosemary
- Pinch dried mint
- 2 lean lamb chops, trimmed (at least ½ lb.)
- Pinch cracked pepper
- Parslied noodles, if desired

Drain peaches, reserving half liquid. Whisk together liquid and cornstarch. Cook over medium heat until mixture thickens and boils.

Blend in mustard, rosemary and mint. Remove from heat.

Place chops on broiler pan. Brush with sauce. Sprinkle with pepper. Broil 5 minutes 4 inches from heat. Turn chops, brush with sauce and sprinkle with pepper. Broil 5 minutes more, or until desired doneness.

Cut peaches in fans. Place on top of lamb chops. Brush with any remaining sauce. Broil 2 minutes to heat peaches through.

Serve with parslied noodles.

Makes 2 servings.

Diet chocolate cheesecakes

- 1 packet unflavored gelatin
- ⅓ cup plus 2 tbsp. skim milk
- 1½ tbsp. cocoa
- 3 tbsp. sugar
- ¾ tsp. vanilla
- ¾ cup low-fat cottage cheese
- 1 egg white
- 3 tbsp. graham cracker crumbs
- Dash cinnamon
- Fresh peach slices or naturally sweetened canned peach slices, drained

Sprinkle gelatin on 2 tablespoons skim milk in blender container. Let stand several minutes to soften.

Meanwhile, heat ⅓ cup skim milk to boiling. Process in blender container until gelatin dissolves. Add cocoa, 2 tablespoons sugar and vanilla. Process at medium speed until well blended.

Add cottage cheese. Blend at high speed until smooth.

Pour into bowl. Chill until mixture mounds from spoon.

Beat egg white until stiff frothy. Gradually add 1 tablespoon sugar and beat until stiff peaks form. Fold into chocolate mixture.

Combine graham cracker crumbs and cinnamon. Divide evenly among 6 paper-lined muffin cups (2½ inches in diameter). Divide chocolate evenly among prepared cups. Cover. Chill several hours or overnight.

Serve garnished with peach slices.

Makes 6 servings; 85 calories.

National to host 'Festival of Foods' at Working Women's Survival Show

National Super Markets will host a 30-booth "Festival of Foods" as part of this year's St. Louis Working Women's Survival Show, Feb. 3-5. The "Festival of Foods" will feature demonstrations, sampling, cooking tips and recipes.

Modern microwave products, bakery products, convenience foods, health convenience foods, and National's "President's Choice" products to be exhibited.

The Working Women's Survival Show, and National Super Markets, Festival of Foods, will be at the Cervantes Convention Center in St. Louis.

Free child care will be provided for children ages 2-12 for those attending the show.

Show hours are 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday and 12 noon to 6 p.m. Sunday. General admission is $6.50 for adults and $3.25 for children under 12. Half price discount coupons are available for National Super Markets Day, Feb. 3.

Recipes

Mushroom almond broiled salmon steaks

4 (about 6 oz. each) salmon steaks, thawed if necessary
Juice of ½ lemon
2 tbsp. unsalted butter or margarine, softened
Grated peel of ½ lemon
¼ lb. mushrooms, chopped
2 tbsp. chopped parsley
2 tbsp. sliced almonds
Lemon wedges

Spray broiler pan with non-stick cooking spray. Place salmon steaks on pan. Sprinkle with lemon juice.

Broil 4 to 5 inches from heat, allowing 10 minutes cooking time per inch of thickness measured at its thickest part, or until salmon flakes easily when tested with fork. Turn salmon steaks halfway through cooking time.

In bowl, combine butter and lemon peel. Stir in mushrooms, parsley and almonds. Spread mixture evenly over salmon steaks. Broil 1 to 2 minutes longer.

Garnish with lemon wedges. Makes 4 servings.

Caramel chocolate clusters

25 soft caramels
1 tbsp. water
1 cup coarsely chopped walnuts
1 cup color-coated chocolate candies
½ cup broken thin pretzel sticks

In medium saucepan, stir caramels and water over low heat until smooth. Remove from heat.

Gently stir in nuts, candies and pretzels.

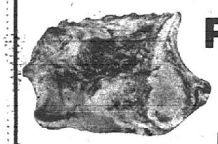

Drop by heaping teaspoonfuls onto greased waxed paper-lined cookie sheets. Let stand until firm. Makes about 36 clusters.

Depend on easy quick bread to perk up routine dinners

ONION OAT PANBREAD is a super-quick, nutritious skillet bread made with flavorful sweet onions. Chopped parsley or other herbs add a savory touch.

One way to dress up an everyday menu easily and economically is to add an interesting quick bread. Onion Oat Panbread fills the role.

It is easy to put together and makes a tasty accent to a hearty stew, a main dish salad or even a simple omelet.

Baked in a skillet, this wholesome bread combines the natural sweetness of onions with the whole grain goodness of rolled oats. Chopped parsley or other herbs add a savory touch.

After buying onions, their high quality can be maintained through proper storage. Put them in a mesh or loosely woven bag and hang in a dark, dry location that remains cool. Once cut, an onion should be wrapped in plastic and refrigerated, or it can be chopped and put in the freezer for future cooking.

An additional quick bread idea is savory Onion-Cheese Cornbread, a tasty variation of an old favorite. Serve it with a steaming pot of soup or a platter of grilled sausages.

Tasty Onion Twists are delicious with salmon loaf, a chef's salad or a cheese souffle. Refrigerated biscuits can be kept on hand to help round out any meal.

Onion-oat panbread

- 1 cup grated sweet onion
- 1 cup quick oats, uncooked
- 2 tsp. baking powder
- ½ tsp. salt
- ¼ tsp. freshly ground black pepper
- ½ cup chopped fresh parsley
- 1 egg, beaten
- ½ cup milk
- 3 tbsp. oil

Mix together onion, oats, baking powder, salt, pepper, parsley, egg and milk.

Heat 2 tablespoons oil in 7- or 8-inch skillet. When hot, spread dough in skillet and drizzle or brush with remaining 1 tablespoon oil. If handle of skillet is not oven-proof, wrap two layers aluminum foil around it.

Bake in 400° oven 20 minutes. After 20 minutes, flip bread over to brown other side. It may be flipped like a crepe or inverted on plate and slid back into skillet. Bake 5 to 8 minutes longer.

Let cool 2 to 3 minutes. Cut in wedges to serve.

Makes 6 servings.

Variations: In place of parsley, use ¼ cup snipped fresh basil or 2 teaspoons dried basil leaves. Or use ½ teaspoon thyme and ½ teaspoon rosemary in place of parsley.

Speedy onion twists

- 3 tbsp. melted butter or margarine
- 1 tsp. dill weed
- 1 pkg. (7½ oz.) refrigerated buttermilk biscuits
- ½ cup finely chopped sweet onion

Combine melted butter and dill. Separate biscuits. Roll each biscuit in log shape about 6 inches long. Dip in dill-butter, then in onions, pressing onion bits into dough.

Twist biscuit 2 to 3 times to form spiral. Arrange on baking sheet. Bake at 400° for 12 to 15 minutes or until golden.

Makes 10 twists.

Onion-cheese cornbread

- 1 large (8 to 10 oz.) sweet onion, peeled
- 1 cup cornmeal
- 1 cup flour
- 4 tsp. baking powder
- 3 tbsp. sugar
- 1 tsp. salt
- ½ cup (2 oz.) grated cheddar cheese
- 1 cup milk
- 2 eggs, beaten
- ¼ cup oil
- 1 tbsp. melted butter or margarine

Cut 4 thin slices from center of onion. Set aside. Chop enough remaining onion to measure ¾ cup.

Combine cornmeal, flour, baking powder, sugar and salt. Stir in chopped onion and cheese. Add milk, eggs and oil. Mix until well blended.

Pour in greased 9-inch square baking pan. Cut reserved onion slices in half. Arrange over top of batter. Brush with melted butter. Bake at 425° for 20 to 25 minutes or until done.

Makes 9 servings.

PUBLIC NOTICE

On January 7, 1989, the Jim Lynch Cadillac and Jim Lynch Toyota dealerships were hit by a hailstorm. Several million dollars in inventory were slightly damaged by the hail, some so slightly that the damage is almost impossible to see.

We have over 400 new and used cars in our inventory and every car even slightly damaged by hail is marked down substantially. Our misfortune is your GOOD fortune.

There are also many new cars with no hail damage available. The Jim Lynch Cadillac and Toyota dealerships are located at I-270 and North Lindbergh.

Pilot project would increase prenatal care, reduce infant deaths and health problems

By Rick Arnold
Staff affiliate

BELLEVILLE — Pregnant women from low-income families or who are on welfare could get paid for going to the doctor, if a pilot program proposed by the St. Clair County Health Department is OK'd by the Illinois General Assembly.

The proposed program seeks to improve the health of babies born prematurely or weighing less than five pounds. The Health Department is asking the state for $3 million in funding over a three-year period.

Health officials admitted at a press conference that paying pregnant women to go to the doctor is an unusual step.

But they said if they don't pay pregnant women now, chances are taxpayers will have to pay later, when babies are born with costly health problems and their parents can't pay the hospital bills.

"It's disconcerting that you have to pay someone to go to the doctor, but we don't have a lot of choice," said Dr. Willard Scrivner. Scrivner is a member of the County Health Board and chairman of the Pre-Term Labor Prevention Committee, a group of 20 county health care and education professionals who drafted the proposal for the pilot program.

Local health officials have become alarmed in the last few years about the increasing numbers of pregnant women, primarily those with low incomes or on welfare, receiving "low prenatal care" during their pregnancy.

Officials define "low prenatal care" as receiving no care at all or not receiving care until the last three months of pregnancy. The number of women in the county receiving low prenatal care increased dramatically from 1986, when the number was 276, to 1987, when the figure was 561. The total number of county live births decreased from 1986 (4,618) to 1987 (4,603).

Health officials believe severe infant health problems and infant deaths are directly related to the amount of care women receive during pregnancy.

Besides giving financial incentives to pregnant women, the proposed program's other two goals are:

1) Mounting an educational campaign for women of all economic classes to tell them the do's and don'ts of pregnancy.

2) Increasing state reimbursements for costs incurred by doctors and other health care providers, and asking the state to pay for a portion of a doctor's liability insurance premium.

Dr. Harold Harsin, medical director at St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Belleville, said several local doctors have been forced to stop delivering babies because some of their patients can't pay their bills, and the price of malpractice insurance has skyrocketed.

Harsin said Illinois ranks dead last among the 50 states and the District of Columbia in its reimbursements to the Medicaid program for doctors, hospitals and other health care providers.

And the amount associated with patients who can't pay their bills in Illinois has risen from $250 million to $550 million during the 1980s, Harsin said.

Scrivner said the proposed project has been endorsed by area legislators and by officials from the state departments of public health and public aid.

"The medical fraternity has wholeheartedly embraced it," Scrivner said. "It's also been embraced by educators and care givers."

Bailiff now 'holding court' in retirement

By Rick Arnold

BELLEVILLE — In his 38 years of service to St. Clair County, Henry King of Brooklyn was a prince of a man, friends and colleagues say.

"Henry went above and beyond the call of duty," said Circuit Judge Milton Wharton, who got to know him during his 10 years as a bailiff at the County Courthouse. "All a bailiff has to do is escort people to and from the courtroom and make sure nothing happens in the courtroom. Henry did a lot more than that."

King retired in December from his bailiff position at the age of 65. His first job with the county was as a jailer at the County Jail, where he started work on Dec. 1, 1950.

He worked 20 years in the Sheriff's Department in a wide variety of jobs, including as a deputy and in administrative positions.

In 1970, he began working in the office of the County Board of Review, staying there until 1978, when he decided to re-enter the law enforcement world as a bailiff.

Wharton, who handles the majority of juvenile court cases for the 20th Judicial Circuit, said he was always impressed by the fact King took time to befriend kids who came through the court system.

"He would counsel them and give them advice," Wharton said. "I remember one particular kid who was involved in an armed robbery. Henry loaned him some money to help him get a new start."

It's anybody's guess how many kids King has talked to through the years. Even he hesitates to come up with a number.

"I've seen quite a few kids come and go," he said during a telephone interview. And though it would be hard for him to remember every kid who's crossed his path over the years, many of them have remembered him.

"Some of them walked up to me years later and thanked me for what I had told them," King said. "Some told me that because of what I said, it kept them out of jail."

Henry King believes kids of today get in trouble for doing a lot of the same, stupid things kids did in the 1950s, but he said there's one big difference.

"It seems like so many of them are strewn up on drugs," he said.

Besides his generosity and compassion, King also is admired for his loyalty and honesty and his willingness to work hard, said County Treasurer Paul Haas, a longtime friend of Henry's who worked with him the whole time King worked for the Sheriff's Department.

"He was one of our first, what we used to call 'riders,'" Haas said. "He had the station wagon and he would cruise around the area and come in if we needed him to do something.

"He would take people to the state hospital in Alton and he was always kind to them. He wasn't rough with them," Haas said.

Haas also remembers the concern King showed last year when Haas had heart surgery.

"When I was sick, with my heart surgery, he called my wife every night and asked how I was doing," Haas said.

But though King is a kind guy, he has never been shy about speaking his mind, Haas said.

"He was a very honest man. He would tell you what he thought."

Henry did just that when he was asked by a reporter why he never married.

"We had to serve divorce papers on a guy one time. We had to wake him up at 6 in the bed. I saw how his wife took him for everything he had. After that, I lost all confidence in women."

King, who has lived in Brooklyn his whole life, said he plans to stay there and enjoy his retirement. Now he'll have more time to do two of his favorite things: go fishing and watch Cardinals baseball games.

But other than those two activities, he doesn't have a whole lot planned.

"I'm just going to do whatever I feel like doing," he said.

New option to stress preserving family unit

By Rick Arnold
Staff affiliate

BELLEVILLE — The Illinois Department of Children and Family Services, which is often put in the position of splitting families apart by putting children in foster homes, hopes a new program will keep more families in St. Clair County together.

DCFS officials said the program, called "Families First," targets families where a report of abuse and/or neglect has been made, but where the child's home life could be improved if the family received help from community agencies.

Such help could include financial assistance, counseling or child care.

Examples of families which could benefit from such help could be a single mother who left her kids at home alone while she went to work because she couldn't afford a baby-sitter, or a father who hit his child once out of frustration over problems he was having with his ex-wife.

While these cases might qualify as neglect and abuse, under the Families First program the single mother could receive financial aid to pay a baby-sitter, and the father could get counseling to help him overcome his problems.

In both cases, the parents could keep their kids while working out their problems. Also, the kids could stay out of the already filled foster home system.

This assistance would be coordinated through the Child Care Association of Illinois, a private, non-profit agency. Services would be available to a family for up to 90 days, after which the case would be up for review.

Program details were announced at a press conference at the County Courthouse. The program will be administered through the Children's Home and Aid Society of Illinois, which received a $162,850 state grant for the 1989 fiscal year.

"It's our belief that the Families First program will keep children out of the already crowded child welfare system," said Illinois DCFS Director Gordon Johnson. "Our entire society will benefit from the reinforcement of the family unit."

DCFS statistics show that during the 1988 fiscal year in St. Clair County, 3,407 reports were made to the child abuse hotline. Of that number, investigators confirmed that 1,367 children were abused or neglected. Based on those reports, 242 children were taken into protective custody.

Johnson said the program won't allow a child to be endangered by an abusive parent.

What Families First will do is give a caseworker another option for dealing with an abuse problem, he said. Right now, caseworkers have two choices: recommend the child stays in the home, or recommend a judge award custody of the child to someone else.

With the Families First program, the caseworker now has a third choice: refer the family to the Child Care Association.

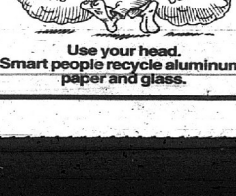

Ronald Moorman, the association's executive director, said Families First evolved from the 1988 Illinois Family Preservation Act.

"The legislation is premised on the belief that Illinois has an obligation to do more than investigate cases of neglect and break up a family," Moorman said.

The state has always had the funding to place children in foster homes after a family breaks up, but now funding is available to help families before they fall apart, he said.

Buick's lineup leads off with two restyled models

Buick Motor Division has extensively restyled its luxurious Riviera and midsize Century for 1989.

Buick's other highlights include the addition of more powerful engines, more responsive "Dynaride" suspensions on most models and technical and appearance enhancements across the line. Plus, the 1989 model year marks the debut of Buick's most luxurious sedan — the Park Avenue Ultra.

"More responsive engines, such as the optional 3300 V6 in Century and Skylark, and the 3.1-liter V6 to be introduced in midyear in Regal, emphasize Buick's commitment to smooth power," said Buick General Manager Edward H. Mertz. "And our specially tuned and equipped suspensions, which we call Dynaride, demonstrate our continuing commitment to assure that the famous 'Buick ride' will mean an unusual combination of comfort and fine handling."

Dynaride is standard on all 1989 models except station wagons and those equipped with Gran Touring suspension. Dynaride combines deflected-disc shock absorber valving with other carefully tuned components to provide an unusually smooth and comfortable ride without sacrificing handling response.

New features this year include a compact disc player available on Regal. Also new is a remote keyless entry system, standard on Reatta and optional on Riviera, Electra/Park Avenue models and Regal. An antilock brake system (ABS) is again standard on Reatta and Electra T Type and again available on other Electra/Park Avenue models and Riviera. ABS is available for the first time on Regal.

Rear-seat lap and shoulder safety belts are standard on all 1989 Buicks.

Some specifics on the Buick line follow:

•The dramatically restyled Riviera, a personal luxury coupe, is 11 inches longer than the 1988 model.

Riviera's powertrain is again the smooth 3800 V6. This 3.8-liter engine with sequential-port fuel injection is coupled to a 4-speed automatic transmission with overdrive. Redesigned "torque axis" engine mounts reduce both torque steer and perceived engine vibration.

Inside, new dark elm burl wood grain trim on the instrument panel and console provides added elegance.

The features that made up last year's Riviera T Type model—Gran Touring package, 16-way power driver's seat and two-tone paint—are available individually for '89.

•In addition to new styling, Century has a new optional V6 engine, as well as interior improvements. Century is available in Custom coupe, sedan and station wagon, Limited sedan and Estate wagon.

The new optional engine is the 3300 V6, a 3.3-liter powerplant with multiport fuel injection. It is rated at 160 horsepower.

The standard engine remains the 2.5-liter Tech 4 4-cylinder with electronic fuel injection.

•All previously offered models of Buick's luxury Electra/Park Avenue sedan series have appearance and content refinements, while the new Park Avenue Ultra features an even higher level of luxury.

Ultra's interior includes leather on all surfaces of the seats, on the door panels and steering wheel, plus padded leather on the glove-box door. The 20-way power driver and passenger seats include the conventional 6-way power adjustments, plus 2-way power recliners, 2-way power adjustable thigh and lumbar supports and 4-way power adjustable headrests.

Ultra is one of four models in the Electra/Park Avenue sedan series. The others are Electra Limited, Electra T Type and Park Avenue.

All Electra/Park Avenue sedans are powered by the 3800 V6.

•Skyhawk, Buick's upscale subcompact, is offered in coupe, sedan and wagon models, as well as a sporty S/E coupe with concealed headlamps. Gran Touring suspension and gauge package.

New features include an acoustical insulation package.

The standard engine is a 90-horsepower, 2.0-liter 4-cylinder with electronic fuel injection.

THE RIVIERA has been dramatically restyled and is 11 inches longer than the 1988 model. The new Riviera has a stronger-looking vertical bar grille, new rich chrome bumper design, wider roof pillars and more curvaceous rear quarter panels. The look is set off by wrap-around side moldings and other detail refinements.

Toyota's Lexus revving up

Toyota's new luxury automobile, the Lexus, will make its first local preview appearance at the Greater St. Louis International Auto Show.

The auto show, scheduled Jan. 25 to 29 at Cervantes Convention and Exhibition Center, also will be the setting for the first appearance in St. Louis by the Cadillac Voyage, a concept car designed to meet demands for the 21st century.

The Lexus exhibit will feature two models — the five-passenger four-door ES 250 executive sedan and the larger top-of-the-line LS 400 sedan, with four-cam 32-valve aluminum V8 engine. The LS 400 boasts more than 300 world-firsts in engineering and design, Toyota officials note.

The Lexus line will be sold exclusively at special Lexus dealerships. Plans are under way for the opening of two St. Louis area dealerships, which are expected to introduce the car around Labor Day.

The Cadillac Voyage is "a rolling laboratory designed to evaluate future Cadillac vehicle concepts," said John O. Grettenberger, General Motors division's general manager.

"The Voyage is not a static auto show exhibit, but a functional test vehicle that will allow Cadillac to review advances in automotive technology and evaluate their near-term applicability," Grettenberger said.

The auto show is sponsored by the Greater St. Louis Automotive Association Inc. and produced by Cahners Exposition Group of Boston. Frank Bommarito is chairman of this seventh annual event.

The extensive display area will feature production vehicles as well as concept/prototype models.

Participating auto lines will include: Acura, Alfa Romeo, BMW, Buick, Cadillac, Chevrolet, Chrysler/Plymouth/Dodge, Ford, GMC Truck, Honda, Hyundai, Isuzu, Jaguar, Jeep/Eagle, Lexus, Lincoln/Mercury, Lotus

Wheels ready to spin out

By Roger McGrath

The 1989 Greater St. Louis International Auto Show will offer a glimpse of the industry's past, previews of the cars of the future, plus more than 400 of today's models.

The show is scheduled Wednesday through Sunday, Jan. 25 through 29, at Cervantes Convention Center in downtown St. Louis.

"People will be amazed at what we'll have," said Don Gilbert, executive vice president of the Greater St. Louis Automotive Association, which sponsors the annual show.

Thirty-seven separate auto lines will be represented at the event. Several local dealers are planning to give away cars, he said.

Organizers expect those attractions to entice winter-weary St. Louisans downtown in record numbers. Last year's attendance was 278,000, and this year as many or more visitors are expected, a spokesman said.

For the car-buying public, the show provides a unique opportunity for one-stop, comparison shopping. Local dealers will be manning the manufacturers' booths, and every dealer in the metropolitan area will be represented at the event.

"If a guy wants to buy a car, where better to go?" Gilbert said.

"The biggest advantage of the auto show is it puts all the auto manufacturers under one roof and you don't have to drive 50 miles" to shop for a new car, said Joe Lager, general manager of Bommarito Olds-Mazda-GMC. His supervisor, Frank Bommarito, is chairman of the 1989 show.

As the event's seven-year history has proven, the auto show sells cars.

At one time, January, February and March were slow months, Gilbert said. But the auto show has changed that, he said.

"Now the selling season starts the first of February," he said.

The auto show also has some thing for those interested in the history of the automobile and for those interested in its future.

Several "concept" cars will be on display, too. Concept cars feature experimental technology that, depending on consumer response, will begin appearing on production models within two years or so, Gilbert said.

Auto show hours will be:

11 a.m. to 10 p.m. Wednesday (Jan. 25) through Friday;

10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Saturday;

11 a.m. to 8 p.m. Sunday.

Admission will be $6 for adults, $4 for seniors age 62 and older, and $2 for children age 12 and younger. Discount coupons are available at all Schnucks stores and auto dealers in the metropolitan area. On opening day, Wednesday, the coupon will take $3 off regular $6 adult admission; and on other days, for $2 off adult admission.

THE ALL-NEW THUNDERBIRD has a sleek shape that produces an air drag coefficient of .31, and a longer, wider stance for improved ride and handling.

Ford unveils new Thunderbird, high-performance Taurus SHO

An all-new Thunderbird and the high-performance Taurus SHO highlight the 1989 Ford Division car lineup.

Ford Division also has a new Mustang LX 5.0-liter series, a Festiva equipped with an automatic transaxle and a new Sport Appearance Group option for the Tempo GLS. Rounding out the lineup are the luxurious LTD Crown Victoria, the hot-selling Probe, the award-winning Taurus and popular Escort.

These are a few of the features of the 1989 Ford models:

•Thunderbird led the way for Ford's popular "aero look" in 1983, and this year's sleek, all-new model advances that aerodynamic styling tradition. A new platform gives the car a longer, wider stance for improved ride and handling characteristics.

Thunderbird is available in three series—standard, LX and Super Coupe. The Super Coupe is equipped with a supercharged, intercooled 3.8-liter V6 engine.

•Taurus, winner of nearly two-dozen awards, has undergone several evolutionary changes for 1989, including a new grille, headlamp and tail lamp lenses, and availability of Ford JBL audio system. Also new is the Taurus SHO model. The SHO (Super High Output) has been timed at 7.3 seconds from 0-to-60 mph.

•Escort — the best-selling nameplate in the world for six straight years — received a variety of styling and functional improvements on 1988½ models and adds gas-pressurized struts in 1989 to improve ride and handling. Escort is available in 2-door, 4-door and wagon models.

•Mustang GT was selected by the editors of Road & Track as one of the "Best Cars in the World" for 1988, based on value. This year it is joined in the Mustang performance lineup by a new LX 5.0-liter series.

The Mustang convertible — the best-selling convertible in the United States in 1986 and 1987 — gets standard power windows and a Power Lock Group for 1989.

•Tempo receives a new Sport Appearance Group option on GLS 4-door models for 1989. For the third straight year, an all-wheel-drive model is available. The system can be activated at the touch of a conveniently located switch — even while the car is in motion.

•A new, optional 3-speed automatic transaxle with a 1.3-liter engine with multiport electronic fuel injection has been added to the Festiva L-Plus and LX models for 1989. The 2-door Festiva hatchback is small and affordable, and has as much interior room — 88.4 cubic feet — as some cars up to 2 feet longer.

•Six-passenger seating, plenty of load space and all-around comfort are the hallmarks of the full-size LTD Crown Victoria and Country Squire. Standard equipment includes a 5.0-liter V8 engine with multiport EFI and a 4-speed automatic overdrive transmission, air conditioning, tinted glass, gas-pressurized shock absorbers and an electronic AM/FM stereo search radio with four speakers.

New Cougar unleashed

The 1989 Lincoln-Mercury lineup of cars is headed by the completely redesigned Mercury Cougar, which features a high-performance XR7 model with a powerful new 3.8-liter, supercharged and intercooled V6 engine.

"The only thing that's the same about Cougar is its name," said Ross H. Roberts, Ford vice president and division general manager. "With all-new styling, platform and powertrain, Cougar should strengthen substantially our position in the highly competitive midsize specialty market."

In addition to Cougar, Mercury celebrates its 50th anniversary with a special edition Grand Marquis to be introduced at midyear.

Features of the 1989 Lincoln-Mercury models include the following:

•Available in LS and XR7 versions, Cougar has an all-new, more aerodynamic look. It is lower and wider, and the wheelbase has been lengthened by 9 inches. This provides more passenger room and comfort.

Cougar also has an all-new rear-wheel-drive platform with independent rear suspension, and electronic variable-assist power steering.

The luxurious LS model is powered by a 3.8-liter V6 engine. The Cougar XR7 has a supercharged version of that engine, as well as a new automatic firm-ride control suspension and 4-wheel disc brakes with an antilock braking system.

•The 50th anniversary special edition of Grand Marquis, to be available in limited numbers at midyear, features unique exterior treatment with clear-coat paint and interior features.

Grand Marquis continues to be offered in GS and LS 4-door sedans and GS and LS Colony Park wagons. It is powered by a 5.0-liter, sequentially fuel-injected V8 engine coupled to a 4-speed, automatic overdrive transmission.

•Sable's exterior look is slightly different this year, due to new headlamp and parking lamp treatment, new laser grille with full-width illumination, and a new front bumper. The 1989 Sable also is highlighted by several technical improvements, including an upgrading of the 3.8-liter V6 engine, and a reduction in noise, vibration and harshness through additional suspension and door weather-stripping refinements.

Isuzu I-Mark RS receives new twin-cam powerplant

The Isuzu I-Mark line of 3-door and 4-door subcompacts features a new dual overhead-cam engine (DOHC) for the performance-oriented RS model.

In addition to the RS, the I-Mark family consists of the standard S model, which this year offers a California Lifestyle trim option, complete with electric canvas sunroof with built-in air deflector; turbocharged LS, available as a 4-door only; and XS, which has more standard features than the standard model.

The I-Mark RS is powered by the first multivalve, twin-cam engine offered by Isuzu in the United States. A light, efficient and economical powerplant, it enhances the I-Mark's Lotus-tuned suspension.

The Isuzu 4XE1 engine boasts the renowned DOHC characteristics of precise throttle response and high-rev capacity. The 16-valve 1.6-liter fuel-injected engine delivers 125 horsepower at 6800 rpm and 102 foot-pounds torque at 5400 rpm.

Four valves per cylinder (two intake and two outlet) and a unique pent-roof combustion chamber provide maximum combustion efficiency. Isuzu's double overhead cams operate valves directly, maximizing efficiency and allowing stable valve performance regardless of engine speeds. At the same time, power loss through friction is reduced in comparison to conventional rocker arm systems because Isuzu's cam/valve design uses fewer moving parts.

"Handling by Lotus" badging denotes an upgrade in suspension that includes mono-tube gas-pressurized shock absorbers, stiffer spring rates, re-engineered strut mounts, more robust stabilizer bars, and an overall change in suspension geometry and tire compounds.

The RS is available in monochrome Spectra Red, Pure White or Phantom Gray.

•Impulse, a 2-door sport coupe, is the other member of Isuzu's car lineup.

Key features include Lotus-tuned suspension, a high-performance turbocharged engine and a long list of standard features.

The '89 Impulse features a removable tilt-up sunroof, automatic antenna located on the rear quarter-panel, and a vertical rear wiper/washer. In addition, all models sport a functional rear spoiler with high-mounted stop lamp, while the rectangular headlights and shape of the hood identify this year's high-performance look.

Power for non-turbocharged models comes from a 2.3-liter OHC fuel-injected engine that delivers 110 hp at 5000 rpms.

Performance shoppers will choose the intercooled turbocharged Impulse, which produces 140 hp at 5400 rpms from its 2.0-liter OHC 4-cylinder engine.

Inside, the Impulse features extensive appointments, including a redesigned front console that accommodates air-conditioning vents and a 7-position adjustable steering wheel. Passive restraint systems for front-seat passengers are standard. A driver's-side electric-window control unit and assist grip handle provide added convenience. This year's only option is carpeted floor mats.

•The rugged Trooper II sports utility vehicle receives significant mechanical and exterior improvements for 1989, including introduction of the shorter wheelbase Trooper RS and the availability of a 2.8-liter V6 engine.

The standard 1989 Trooper II has an 2.6-liter multipoint fuel-injected 4-cylinder gasoline engine that develops 120 hp at 5000 rpm.

The engine is mated to a heavy-duty 5-speed manual transmission or an electronically controlled 4-speed automatic overdrive transmission featuring easy-to-use performance and economy modes.

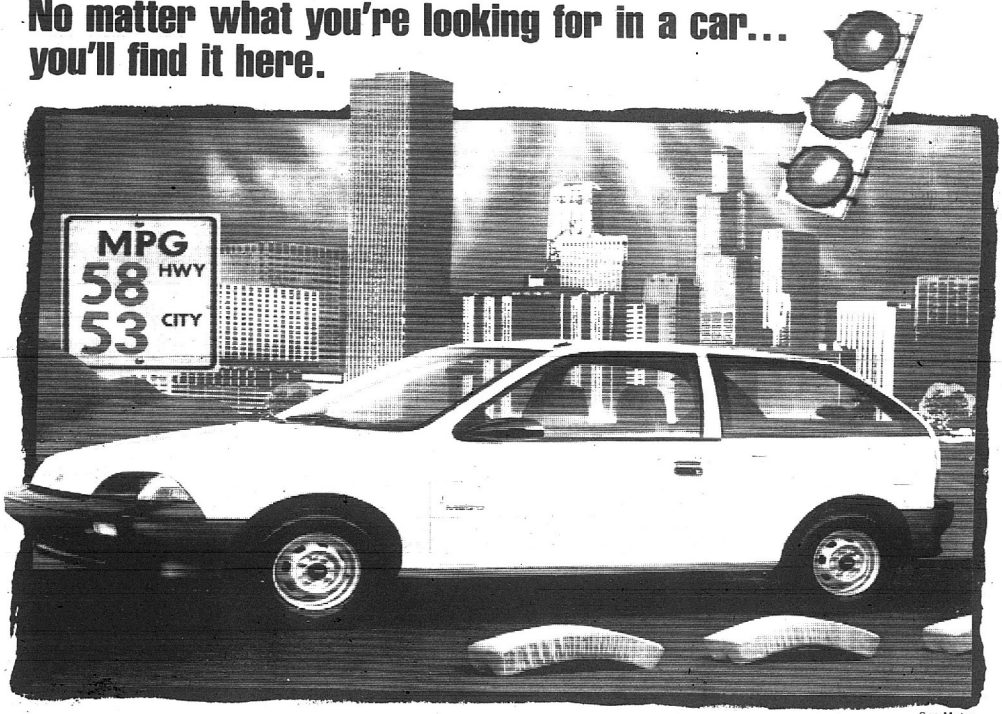

Four-wheel-drive capability is provided by a 2-speed transfer case. Automatic locking hubs are standard equipment on manual-transmission-equipped Troopers.

Handling has been improved as a result of revised suspension rates and the addition of 4-wheel disc brakes as standard equipment.

Driving the new Trooper II through traffic is a delight, thanks to variable-assist power steering automatically matches steering effort to engine speed.

Introducing Geo.

No matter what you're looking for in a car... you'll find it here.

Geo Metro

Introducing Geo... at the 1989 Auto Show. Geo's a full line of ideas. Like the economical Geo Metro and Geo Spectrum. And coming soon, Geo Tracker 4x4, sporty Geo Storm and Geo Prizm sedan.

It's stingy. Geo Metro has the highest mileage in America ...EPA estimated MPG city 53/highway 58.

It's smart. Geo understands the true value of the dollar. With a Geo Metro price range from $5,995 to $7,195.* A financial wizard? Indeed.

It's protected. A Bumper to Bumper Plus Warranty protects Geo for 3 years/50,000 miles.† Simply, we stand behind what we sell. Enough said.

It's 1-800-DIAL-GEO. Questions? Comments? Call us. Because we think whatever you're looking for in a car... it's a Geo. No matter what.

*M.S.R.P. including dealer prep. Tax, license, destination charges and optional equipment additional.

Bevy of new Chevys join GM cavalcade this year

The Chevrolet Motor Division of General Motors Corp. is introducing seven new vehicles in 1989, six of which are included in two new car lines called Geo and Lumina.

The newcomers are:

Geo — a new line of imports marketed a new way, with the new Geo Tracker, Geo Prizm and Geo Metro joining Geo Spectrum in the subcompact and sport-utility market. The Geo models will be at the St. Louis International Auto Show.

Lumina — Chevrolet's midsize family of the '90s. The sedan version of the 1990 Lumina will be at Chevrolet dealerships this spring; the Lumina coupe and APV, a new alternative to the family wagon, will make their debut in fall. The Lumina sedan will make its first appearance in St. Louis at the auto show.

ZR1 Corvette — The world's most powerful production sports car, to become available in spring. It too will be displayed at the auto show. Power is provided by a 32-valve, double-overhead-cam all-aluminum V8 capable of producing zero-to-60 times in the 4-plus-second range. The ZR1 also features a ZF 6-speed manual transmission and a distinctive appearance.

Corsica Hatchback — The Corsica sedan gets a hatchback partner in '89. Also new is the high-style Corsica LTZ sedan.

Here is a closer look at the 1989 Chevrolet fleet:

•With its full-folding rear seat in the down position, the Corsica hatchback has a cargo capacity of 39 cubic feet. With the seat up, a window-shade security screen and package tray cover the luggage area.

Features of the Corsica LTZ sedan include a 130-horsepower, 2.8-liter V6 with multiport fuel injection. Getrag-designed 5-speed manual transmission; FE3 special sport suspension; 15-inch aluminum wheels; gloss-black exterior trim with red-accented striping and unique front grille. Interior enhancements include custom interior trim, split folding rear-seat gauge package and auxiliary lighting.

Corsica LT — a less-expensive alternative to the LTZ — may be ordered as a sedan or hatchback. LT features include F41 sport suspension, exclusive 14-inch styled steel wheels and gloss-black exterior trim with red accent striping.

•Beretta has been enhanced for 1989 as the standard sport coupe assumes the look of last year's GT model.

The standard Beretta's hotter appearance begins with new 14-inch styled steel wheels and a high-gloss-black exterior theme.

CORSICA FOR 1989 adds a hatchback version. Among Corsica's new standard features, included on both the sedan and hatchback, are: 14-inch wheels with restyled full wheel covers, revised headlamp and wiper-washer switches.

New look for Mercedes 190-Class

A number of improvements in the 190-Class sedans, some new interior designs and the availability of full-front air-bag systems lead the list of changes in the Mercedes-Benz line for 1989. Also, antilock braking is now standard on all Mercedes-Benz models sold in North America.

The 190 Class gets a revised exterior appearance, thanks to new, protective lower-bodyside moldings, a deeper front air dam and restyled bumpers, while new front and rear suspension settings reduce overall height.

Inside, redesigned seats with more side support and softer upholstery, increased rear-seat knee room and 3-position height adjustment for the front shoulder belts are the most noticeable changes.

There are only two 190 models, both 4-doors: the 190E 2.6, with a 158-horsepower 6-cylinder engine; and the 190D 2.5, powered by a 90 hp, 5-cylinder diesel. The 4-cylinder 190E 2.3 is no longer offered.

The 190E 2.6 can be ordered with a 5-speed manual transmission or 4-speed automatic, while the 190D 2.5 is sold only with an automatic.

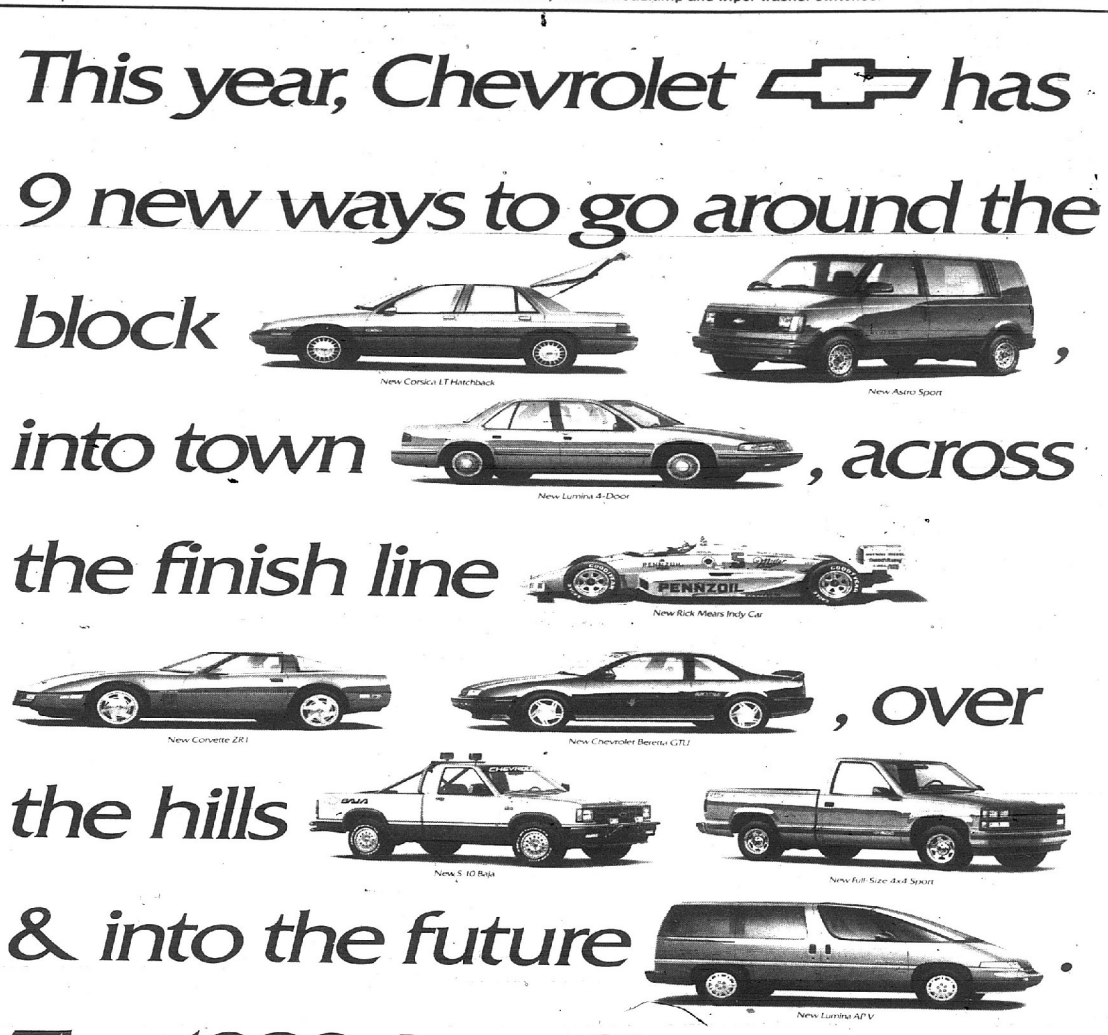

Mercedes-Benz, which in 1986 became the first make to have a driver's-side air bag as standard equipment across the line, now also includes a passenger-side air bag as standard equipment in the 420SEL and 560SEL sedans and the 560SEC coupe.

The system is optional on six other models: the 260E, 300E, 300SE and 300SEL sedans, and 300CE coupe and the 300TE station wagon, making full-front air-bag systems available in nine models altogether.

Changes in the medium-size 300-Class models include: revised automatic transmissions in the 300E, 300CE and 300TE; electrically heated windshield washer reservoir, lines and nozzles and a 0.6-inch reduction in vehicle height due to new suspension settings. Manual transmissions are no longer available in the 260E or 300E.

At the top of the line, the 300SE, 300SEL, 420SEL and 560SEL large sedans and limited-edition 560SEC coupe all have redesigned leather interiors with softer upholstery. All of these models have the 10-speaker, 100-watt stereo sound system as standard and all, plus the 560SL coupe/roadster, have a revised 4-speed automatic transmission with new first- and second-gear ratios.

The radio in each model except the 560SL has a speed-dependent volume correction feature that automatically adjusts the sound level up or down with vehicle speed, a feature introduced in the 1988 S-Class.

THE Heartbeat OF AMERICA TODAY'S CHEVROLET

Designs you can't take your eyes off. Performance you can't wait to get your hands on. Models you'd love to put your family in. And just about everything in between. From coupes, to sedans, to 4x4 trucks, to race cars, to future vehicles they haven't even made categories for yet. It's all at the 1989 Auto Show. But it's only at Chevrolet.

THE CUTLASS CALAIS International-Series is a fully equipped compact coupe or sedan that provides a stunning showcase for Oldsmobile's 150 horsepower, 2.3-liter Quad 4 engine.

New generation of Olds takes the wheel in 1989

Oldsmobile says that with a broad product line combined with a strong emphasis on "contemporary, high-profile image models," it is in an ideal position to meet and exceed its goals not only during the 1989 model year but through the decade ahead.

Oldsmobile's offerings include the following:

•Cutlass Calais, the car that introduced Oldsmobile's Quad 4 engine to American buyers, is now the division's most compact offering. Available in 2-door coupe and 4-door sedan body styles, the Cutlass Calais offers four model levels — a new Value Leader, Cutlass Calais S, Cutlass Calais SL and Cutlass Calais International Series.

The Value Leader is aimed at those buyers seeking a high level of standard content at an attractive price. It is sold only with the 2.5-liter 4-cylinder engine and limited additional equipment.

The 1989 lineup of engines adds new spark to the performance of the Cutlass Calais. The base 2.5-liter 4-cylinder is now rated at 110 net horsepower (up from 98 hp). The Quad 4 engine, standard in the International Series and optional in most other Cutlass Calais models, carries on with 150 net hp at 5200 rpm.

A new Series 3300 V6, rated at 160 net hp, is offered as an option in Cutlass Calais S and SL editions. Late in the model year, a special high-output version of the Quad 4 rated at 180 net hp will move the Cutlass Calais International Series into the upper echelons of acceleration performance.

•Cutlass Ciera features significant aerodynamic styling changes.

The 2.5-liter 4-cylinder engine continues as this midsize car's standard powerplant. The optional 2.8-liter V6 is unchanged. The optional 3.8-liter V6 has been replaced by a new Series 3300 3.3-liter V6 engine that is smoother, more powerful and significantly more efficient.

Cutlass Ciera's base level suspension has been retuned to soften the ride without sacrificing handling. An automatic transaxle is standard.

•The exterior of Oldsmobile's midsize Cutlass wagons has been updated. A new engine option is the Series 3300 V6.

•Cutlass Supreme offers a fleet of Oldsmobiles specially designed for a new generation of contemporary family car buyers.

Available in three trim levels, Cutlass Supreme models feature a 2.8-liter port-fuel-injected V6 engine and offer several enhancements. A 3.1-liter V6, available with an automatic transaxle, will be added at midyear.

Antilock brakes now are available. Other new options include a power sunroof, an extendable under-hood lamp and a remote keyless entry.

Steering wheel touch controls, which operate the radio and the new optional electronic climate control, expand the application of state-of-the-art electronic equipment on SL and International Series.

•The 88 Royale continues as a family coupe and sedan aimed at customers seeking traditional virtues—tasteful styling, plenty of interior room and solid comfort.

A Supplemental Inflatable Restraint System for the driver side and antilock brakes remain optional. And, like all Oldsmobile models, 3-point seat belts for outboard rear passengers are standard.

•The 1989 Custom Cruiser is powered by a 5.0-liter V8 engine rated at 140 net hp. A 4-speed automatic transmission is standard. With the rear-facing third seat erected, the Custom Cruiser can carry a total of eight passengers.

•The family seeking a large, luxurious sedan with antilock brakes and a Supplemental Inflatable Restraint System will find that the Ninety-Eight Regency can meet their needs.

Front seat belts now are passive designs that require no action on the part of the driver or the outboard front passenger.

•Oldsmobile's Touring Sedan is aimed at the customer that demands first-class comfort with the utmost in over-the-road handling.

Powered by a 3900 (3.8-liter) V6 engine with a 4-speed automatic, itis fitted with the FE3 handling suspension. Antilock brakes are standard.

Dodge Shadow gets sleeker look

A bold new "crosshair" grille, molded in body color and fitted with dual aero-style headlamps, give this year's Dodge Shadow a smooth, more aerodynamic look.

Shadow, which also receives a new powertrain option, is available in 2-door and 4-door models with the convenience of a rear liftback and split, folding rear seats.

On 2-door models, a new, performance-oriented Competition Package includes the new Chrysler Motors 2.5-liter turbocharged multipoint fuel-injected engine with counter-rotating balance shafts. Power output is 150 horsepower at 4800 rpm on unleaded premium fuel.

Among the other features of this package are: new performance suspension, 5-speed manual transmission, heel-and-toe accelerator and brake pedal configuration, P195/60HR-15 all-season performance tires mounted on 15-inch cast aluminum rims, special stainless-steel performance exhaust system, turbo boost gauge, rear spoiler and special 4-speaker sound system.

The hot Shadow ES package, available on 2-door and the 4-door Shadow models, includes: new maximum-performance suspension system, 2.5-liter "Turbo I" engine; and numerous other features.

The standard powerplant in Shadow is a 2.2-liter engine with electronic fuel injection and "Quiet Idle II" features. Quiet Idle II includes special sound-deadening material sandwiched into engine oil pans and cylinder head covers to prevent the transmission of ambient engine sound into the car's passenger compartment. A 5-speed manual transaxle is standard with this engine. A 3-speed automatic transaxle is optional.

A naturally aspirated, 2.5-liter fuel-injected version of the 4-cylinder engine can be ordered in both the Shadow and Shadow ES models.

Mazda rolls out its MPV

The all-new Mazda MPV multipurpose vehicle leads the 1989 line from Mazda Motor of America.

Combining style, comfort and versatility, the MPV comes in two versions: a passenger version with seating for five or seven passengers, and a cargo version.

Buyers have a choice of two engines, and a wide range of options that make it possible for them to tailor the MPV to their needs. A 4-wheel-drive model also is planned.

The distinctive look of the MPV is the result of careful aerodynamic design, which yields a coefficient of drag of only 0.36.

Rigidity, another feature of the MPV body, has been achieved through Mazda's Dynamic Modal Analysis and extensive computer-aided design. This contributes to a solid, stable feel, quiet interior and comfortable ride.

The standard engine is an all-new 2.6-liter, 12-valve, in-line 4-cylinder model with electronic fuel injection and twin counter-rotating balance shafts developed specifically for use in the MPV.

The engine produces 121 horsepower at 4600 rpm and 149 foot-pounds of torque at 3500 rpm.

EPA fuel economy ratings for this engine are 20 mpg city and 24 mpg highway with the 5-speed manual transmission; and 19 mpg city and 24 mpg highway with the optional 4-speed overdrive automatic transmission.

In designing the suspension of the MPV, engineers at Mazda sought to provide a balance of taut handling, comfortable ride and load-carrying capability.

The MPV, which features a rear-wheel drive layout, has a towing capacity of 2,300 pounds with the standard engine and 2,600 pounds with the optional 3.0-liter, 18-valve, overhead cam V6 engine. With the optional towing package, the capacity of the V6 equipped MPV increases to 4,500 pounds.

The brakes are front ventilated disc and rear drum. A dual hydraulic circuit with a load-proportioning valve maintains braking balance under various load conditions.

The MPV has a flat floor with a raised luggage/cargo platform in the main passenger compartment. The 7-passenger arrangement offers three rows of seats in a 2-2-3 configuration. For access to the rear of the MPV from the front seats, a wide walk-through area has been provided.

Even in the 7-passenger configuration there is ample cargo room behind the third seat. This cargo area may be expanded by folding the third seat forward against the back of the second seat. In addition, the rear seats in the 7-passenger version fold down to form a large flat surface for sleeping or carrying bulky cargo.

What comparison shoppers will be driving after the auto show.

Take a close look at the Oldsmobile® Cutlass Supreme. You'll want to take one home. Its advanced aerodynamics equal some of the best in the world. Its power comes from a 2.8-liter multiport fuel-injected V6. And its handling is precise, with a separate suspension system at every wheel. Power four-wheel disc brakes are standard, with an anti-lock braking system also available.

Of course there's more to the New Generation of Oldsmobile, like the impressive technology in Oldsmobile Trofeo.® Its available Visual Information Center provides 51 full-color, easy-to-read touch-screen displays controlling stereo, climate, navigational compass, trip computer and much more.

Get a firsthand look at the future. See the New Generation of Oldsmobile at the auto show. Then after the show, see your Olds dealer and put the New Generation to the test, with a test drive in the Olds of your choice.
